DUCK, LINDBERGH, WILL WILL SELL YOU LOTS OF LOTS

LOS ANGELES Cal—June 23—California hospital—Every town in the world is urging Lindbergh to come there and be entertained, to make speeches and drive for hours through cheering crowds—in other words, they absolutely guarantee that he will be all in when he leaves their town.

As down and out mayor of the "best little town" between Los Angeles and Sawtelle, I hereby officially write Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to visit Beverly Hills, and guarantee we will give him no parades. He is to make no speeches, thank us for no meals and attend no privately arranged parties. We just want him to come and buy a lot.

Surviving Officer Takes Blame For Disaster To Plane

(International News Service)
SAN DIEGO, June 23. — Lt. Thomas G. Fisher today voluntarily assumed the blame for the death of Lt. Commander William S. Hactor and chief machinist mate Charles Robbins, naval officers in a seaplane tragedy off Laguna Beach Tuesday night.

"I just stubbed my toe, that's all. I'll take all the blame," declared Lt. Fisher, the lone survivor.

Lt. Fisher survived after swimming for nine hours following the crash of the new PB-T Boeing type torpedo plane, which he and his two companions were flying from Seattle to the air base here. His companions were drowned.

Lt. Fisher said he had miscalculated his altitude, descending out of a fog to what he thought to be a 400 foot altitude. He skimmed the surface of the water and crashed. Both pontoons were knocked off and the seaplane sank a minute after the men secured their life belts

Hundreds Of Children Taken To Cascade For Annual Mission Picnic

Twelve street cars packed full of shouting, laughing kiddies and a few slightly more sedate mothers made their way to Cascade Park at ten o'clock this morning where hundreds of children of New Castle are enjoying the annual Free picnic given by the City Mission today.

Over an hour before the time when the cars were scheduled to leave the corner of Mercer and Washington street crowds of kiddies began to sprinkle into the downtown district from all parts of the city. A girl of 12 was seen dragging a wee brother of four years telling him to hurry or they would miss the car although it was an hour yet before the cars were to leave the public square. And many little tots after walking for blocks urged along by more energetic brothers and sisters and after being jostled on the crowded sidewalk look as though they had enough already.

Supplies Precede

Long before the car loads of youngsters arrived at the park truck loads of supplies for the picnic were taken to the park under the direction of E. J. Berquist, superintendent of the City Mission. Soon the tables in the park were pilled high with hundreds of sandwiches and dozens of yellow lemons took their last swim before the hordes of thirsty kiddies came to quench their thirst with the cooling lemonade. A truck load of little presents awaited as the children entered the park.

When the twelve cars hove in sight on Washington street this morning they had to nearly push the crowd of yougsters off the track like a snowplow shoving snow aside before they were able to get through. The first street car was the favorite one although many in the last car would arrive in the park as soon. Crowds of pushing boys and girls made their way until most of the cars were filled to the limit.

It was announced to those at the corner of Mercer and Washington streets that the cars would be loaded at Beaver street and the flock of kiddies, like a large flock of sheep, hurried the two blocks to make sure that they would not be left. Breaking out over the sidewalks and streets; autos, street cars and all had to give them the right of way.

But some poor chaps were not with the crowd but waved to their chums as they trugged along from the store with bundles for the home or hurried on an errand for their new exployer. What is more tragic than to have to stay home from a free picnic?

And the altruistic spirit even reached the adult passerby for as the auto bearing the superintendent of the Mission came along we see a man stop him and hand him a dollar bill. This was added to many another from friends of the Mission and the Kiddies to see that they have the time of their life today.

Commerce Department Is Not Likely To Take Any Action

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Secretary Hoover was appealed to today in an effort to prevent Ernest Smith, air pilot, from taking off as early as next Monday night on an attempted non-stop flight to Honolulu.

Supervisor Milo Kent, of the San Francisco Citizen's flight committee, handling local arrangements for the Dole $35,000 flight, appealed to the secretary of commerce to force an expert inspection of Smith's machine. Characterizing Smith's airplane as "second-hand," Kent said the attempt would be "suicidal."

Supporters of Smith, angered by Kent's action, declared the pilot would hop off for Hawaii just as soon as his plane is ready.

Prisoners' Strike In Kansas Mine Still In Progress

Over 300 Convicts Have Been Barricaded In Mine For Three Days

FOURTEEN GUARDS IN MINE WITH THEM

Only One Communication From Mine Since Tuesday Morning

(International News Service)
LANSING, Kan., June 23.—The prisoners strike—"no cigarets, no coal"—in Kansas state prison coal mine continued today.

Once only have the 328 convicts, who Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock barricaded themselves with 14 guards, communicated with the outside and that was for a brief time last night, in which an unknown voice from the depths told Mine Superintendent Peter Russel, "the officers (guards) want to speak with their wives." The request was refused until Russell conferred with acting Warden R. H. Hudspeth. The man in the mine did not call again.

Machine Guns Posted.

Machine guns were posted thruout the prison yard today as an additional precaution if overhead rioting breaks out again.

Investigation of the cell house mutiny and riot which occurred at the time the miners sent up their ultimatum "no cigarets, no coal," continued with the state board of prison administration assisting the warden's office.

Oats and corn in the mine are said to be of sufficient volume to keep the prisoners alive for some time.

No concessions are to be made, according to the acting warden or at least until after Warden W. H. Mackey returns this afternoon from Oklahoma where he has been on business.

Famous Flier Demands Right To Role Of Private Citizen

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived safely at Boling Field here today at 11:28 a. m., having left Dayton, Ohio, at 8:40 a. m.

DAYTON, O., June 23.—Col. Charles Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic flier, and his St. Louis associates, took off from Wilbur Wright field here at 8:40 o'clock, continuing their journey to Washington, following an overnight visit with Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, in Dayton, "birthplace of Aviation."

Lindbergh is through with public demonstrations and has returned emphatically to the role of a private citizen, he demonstrated on his arrival here, to the intense disappointment of thousands of residents of Dayton and central Ohio. He refused to permit the automobile which met him at the field to take him through the downtown sections of Dayton, where a crowd estimated at 50,000 or more, lined the thoroughfares to catch a glimpse of the famous birdman; and when the reception committee insisted, Lindbergh firmly threatened to leave the machine and go

McCandless Held On Murder Charge By Alderman Mantz

Application Made To Judge Hildebrand, And McCandless Is Admitted To $20,000 Bail

Elgie McCandless, former treasurer of Butler county, was held for murder of Fred Beebe in a decision handed down by Alderman L. C. Mantz Wednesday afternoon. The decision was rendered after the alderman had listened to arguments on law points and other matters connected with the case.

McCandless, who had been held for involuntary manslaughter and driving an automobile while intoxicated following the inquest and hearing, had been admitted to $20,000 bail by Judge Hildebrand, pending the alderman's decision. After the decision had been rendered McCandless was surrendered to Sheriff Reynolds and was placed in the Lawrence county jail.

This morning former Judge S. P. Emery made an application to Judge Hildebrand to have the prisoner released on bail until the trial which will come up at the September term of court. It was urged that the facts surrounding the case would not warrant a jury in returning a verdict of murder in the first degree, and that the court could consistently admit the defendant to bail. Judge Hildebrand agreed to admit him to bail, fixing the bond at $20,000.

Friends of McCandless in Butler were immediately notified of the court's decision and sent word back that they would be here with the required bond this afternoon, when McCandless will be released. The charge grew out of the death of Fred Beebe, of Cleveland, who was struck by McCandless' automobile on Butler avenue, June 14.

Daughter Of Minister Chooses Stage Career, With Father Approving

MISS VIVIAN DOWNEY
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

DETROIT, June 23.—One minister does not object to his daughter becoming an actress. In fact, he emphatically approves. The minister is the Rev. Herman H. Downey of the Boulevard Temple M. E. church.

He says of his daughter Vivian: "She always has wanted to have a stage career. I see nothing startling in the fact she has been successful in obtaining an engagement.

"There has always been a chasm between the church and the theater. I think that it is growing less and less broad. There can be many fine things done in the theater, in their way, and when such girls as Vivian go into the theater professionally it is certain to help bridge the chasm.

"Public Likes to Gasp"

"I know the public likes to gasp a little at the idea of a minister's daughter being on the stage. But really there is nothing extraordinary about it."

Miss Downey is a graduate of Syracuse University, class of 1925. She has been cast for prima donna roles with a revue at Indianapolis, Ind.

Miss Downey studied music with Oscar Seagle, and with Mme. Blanche Weinschenck, former coach for the Opera Comique in Paris. According to Miss Downey's father, she has no particular preference for grand opera, but enjoys roles in light opera, as well as those in drama.

Before bringing his family to Detroit Rev. Downey was pastor of the Furman street M. E. church in Syracuse, N. Y.

Supervisors Discuss County Assistance In Upkeep Of Roads

Meeting Of Township Roads Association Develops Interesting Facts

Bentley Says Neither State Aid Nor Township Reward Is Desire

County assistance for dirt roads in the townships came in for a rather thorough discussion Wednesday evening when the Township Roads Association of Lawrence county held a meeting in the Union township high school. President Charles L. Bentley presided, with 40 or 50 present, among them supervisors of townships and a few men from New Castle who are interested in the affairs of the county at large.

President Bentley opened the meeting by explaining its purpose, and the purpose of the association. This he characterized as being "unselfish, merely wanting what its members thought was just, that being the return of some of the tax money paid into the county."

Quotes Statistics

Bentley said that many of the townships in the county were hard pressed. As an example he said that Slippery Rock township had 82 miles of road, with only $7,000 of a tax duplicate from which to get revenues. Washington has a mileage of 65 miles with a duplicate of $6,500. Perry township a mileage of 46 miles with a duplicate of $2,800.

It was not state aid the organization wanted, nor was it township reward, said Bentley, but assistance from the commissioners of GENEVA, June 23.—Eventual limitation of the navies of the world to light cruisers, armed with six-inch guns, and destroyers, is the aim of the British Admiralty.

American experts at the tri-partite naval disarmament conference see just this in the British proposals to further reduce the size of capital ships and the calibre of guns on capital ships.

British Reveal Hand

The British revealed their hand in suggestion that 10,000-ton, eight-inch gun, cruisers gradually disappear, according to the views of the American experts.

Little towards this end will be accomplished at this conference but it is certain that the scheme will show itself and in 1931 when a conference is held to extend and modify the Washington treaty.

"The only advantage we see in the British idea is one of economy," declared an American expert to the International News Service. "It is

Operators-Miners Are Deadlocked In Wage Conference

Dissension Reported In Anthracite Coal Fields By Recent Surveys

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 23. — The sub-committee of the joint committee consisting of coal operators and union miners from the Pennsylvania central bituminous competitive field, was still deadlocked when it resumed negotiations here today in an effort to reach a basis whereby a new wage agreement may be decided upon to replace the Jacksonville wage scale which expired April 1.

Operators are demanding that the old wage scale be lowered and representatives of the miners are standing firm against any diminution of wages.

Dissension is also reported, in the anthracite coal situation. The monthly meeting of the Anthracite Conciliatory Board scheduled for today to consider and decide upon the demands for a modified check-off by the miners was indefinitely postponed.

I read in the papers concerning the styles, of the ladies sheer laces and flounces, that all that the girls will be wearing this year doesn't weigh a thing over six ounces. Now I know very little of ladies apparel, I'm not in position you see, but six ounces of clothes isn't much to have on, it's quite a conundrum to me. Six ounces of clothes doesn't seem like a lot, and it isn't from what I have seen, but gosh I have thought they wore much more than that, it isn't sufficient I ween. But not for the world would I have it be said, that I'd criticize ladies' wear weight, they look mighty good, though they wear but six ounces, the weather is close, seventy-eight.

BRITISH PLAN WOULD ABOLISH CAPITAL SHIPS

an excellent idea from the British point of view because with their convenient naval bases, small light cruisers with limited cruising radius are sufficient if no other nation has more powerful ships.

U. S. Disturbed

The United States government is apparently greatly disturbed over the British suggestions regarding capital ships and at its request Hugh Gibson today conferred with the Hon W. C. Bridgeman, chief British delegate, and asked for a complete memorandum exposing the British admiral's views. The memorandum probably will be handed to Gibson tonight.

The British spokesman today confirmed the fact that it is great Britain's hope eventually to do away with capital ships, but stated that he doubted whether the memorandum on capital ships to be handed the American delegates for transmission to Washington would go that far.

Abolish Capital Ships

"Of course abolition of capital ships is our idea," said the British spokesman, "but necessarily we have to come to it gradually. Doing away with capital ships quickly would be false economy."

"Lacking the necessary naval bases," said the American naval expert, "We cannot accept the proposition because small cruisers are useless to us except for coast defense. The same applies to Japan. Furthermore, the British in wartimes could immediately augment their fleet with at least forty merchant ships mounting six-inch guns.

"On paper our fleet might exactly equal the strength of Great Britain's but in the event of war she would immediately have a preponderance of strength because of her naval bases and her immense merchant fleet.

"After all, we are limiting navies for war time and not for peace."

The Japanese attitude towards the British gesture is practically identical to the American.

The Japanese delegation is showing more and more of an inclination to bring up the question of naval bases for serious discussion, an action which would certainly prolong the present conference if it did not wreck it entirely.

Lawrence county, and this, he said, was merely justice. He said that the commissioners of the county had said that the county had been hard up for the past several years, and if this be true, Bentley asked why a cut in the tax rate of two mills had been made.

Weingartner Speaks

State Senator George T. Weingartner was called as the first speaker and he defined the difference between state aid, township reward and county assistance. He outlined the progress of road-building in this county and said that assistance had been given to some townships when he had been a commissioner, but that this had been discontinued because it was found that the money was not being used in the proper manner. In one case, that of Slippery Rock township, he said that the supervisors had not taken advantage of county assistance, nor of a slag offer that had been made.

Later Senator Weingartner spoke again. Answering the plea that the county commissioners should "cut the corners a little" and thus save money to aid the townships, he said: "If you men could only serve in the commissioners' office you would find that it was a mighty difficult thing to cut. Nine out of 10 dollars taken in is marked for a definite purpose, interest on bonds, sinking fund, court costs and the like, and it would be hard to economize much more than is done."

Extra Tax Would Hit Cities

Representative Bart Richards was the next speaker. He said that if the organization had for its purpose those ideas outlined by the president, then it was worthy of support from the citizens of the county. Touching upon the possibility of a one-mill county tax being assessed for aiding townships, he said that this would probably meet with some opposition from the people of the city, unless it were the idea to proportion the money to the city and townships alike in the same manner in which it was collected.

C. Harvey Milholland, county engineer, reminded the men at the meeting that a one-mill tax would come largely from New Castle and Ellwood City. Out of every dollar collected 67 cents would come from New Castle, he said, and about 15 cents additional from Ellwood City.

J. J. Burns spoke briefly and said that he also thought that a one-mill tax would be unpopular with the city residents.

A. J. Skunder, a member of the organization's executive committee, said that the present board of county commissioners had refused to recognize the supervisors and that it seemed to him that a new board of commissioners was needed. As a member of the executive committee he said that no recommendation had been made concerning the one-mill tax which had been talked of informally.

Other speakers were Alec McKim of North Beaver township, P. H. McClenahan of Pulaski township and C. C. Houlette of Hillsville. The organization is to meet again at the call of the chairman.

COL. LINDBERGH THROUGH WITH DEMONSTRATIONS

to Wright's home in a taxicab, unless the car was routed through the back streets to avoid the crowd.

Crowd Disappointed

Few of the thousands who had flocked to Dayton when the stopoff to visit Wright was heralded by the newspapers attempted to go to the flying field, but took their stations along the main streets, the announced route of the unofficial "parade" to Wright's home, and the crowd was loud in its expressions of disappointment when "Lindy" failed to appear.

"If the people of Dayton want to see me," Lindbergh was quoted as having said to Brigadier General William E. Gillmore, commandant at Wilbur Wright field, "it might be that I can arrange to return at a later date."

When Harry Knight, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, and one of Lindbergh's flight backers was asked to explain the sudden aversion of Lindbergh to the public demonstration, his only comment was:

"We couldn't afford it."

Terrible Fiasco

"It was a terrible fiasco," said Mayor Allen McDonald, chairman of the entertainment committee, reviewing the events of last night, "Col. Lindbergh had been promised there would be no demonstration, and it was our endeavor to keep this promise. We had arranged to escort Colonel Lindbergh through the city, and pay him the homage which his exploit deserved. We expected his car, with Orville Wright, and General Gilmore to take a direct route uptown from the flying field to the Wright home, we acted in good faith, and we are greatly disappointed."

Following Lindbergh's refusal to appear in public here last night, the entertainment committee announced that all plans had been cancelled. Indications that Lindbergh would hop off again early today were seen in the statement of Knight that the party had a dinner engagement in Washington, which would make an early resumption of the journey imperative.

Lindbergh, flying a borrowed army plane, and escorted by two other ships, in which were Major Thomas P. Lanphier, Commandant of the Selfridge Field Pursuit Group, Lieutenant St. Clair street, Harold M. Bixby, Harry M. Knight, and Major William B. Robertson, landed shortly after 6 p. m. The flight from St. Louis was uneventful they said.

Inhalation of gas atrophied certain brain cells which control consciousness, physicians explain. With these cells apparently dead doctors see no hope of her ever regaining consciousness. The cells controlling the purely mechanical operations of the body such as breathing, digestion and circulation of the blood are apparently unimpaired These operations continue normally.

Average New Castle Man Wears No. 8 Shoe; Woman Wears No. 6

The average man has a size 8 foot according to New Castle shoe merchants, while a majority of the women wear a size 6 shoe.

For a long, long time the fairer sex has attempted to wear shoes much smaller than they really should wear. This still contiues to a certain extent for what would a woman rather have than a dainty little foot? May of them attempt to wear small shoes in order to beautify their feet. By doing this many women ruin their feet for life. Women's feet are getting no smaller, neither are they getting larger.

A man is not quite so particular as a woman is of course in regard to his shoes. He is usually alert to the pains of his feet and if the pains continue he must get larger shoes. According to those who are in the business of satisfying people's footwear desires the average size of a man's foot is not getting larger or smaller, but like the average for women, is remaining approximately the same.

The average person wears about four pairs of shoes annually.

Children are still as "hard on shoes" as ever. Possibly harder. A long time ago children went in their barefeet the whole summer long. Nowadays a few of them go this way but most of them wear some kind of sandals, or cool shoes in place of going bare-footed. This probably will continue for many of the "kids" are getting wagons, velocipides and the like, causing them to wear out more shoes in their play.

Report Common Stock Of Coal Company Sold

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—Stock tickers today carried a report that the $7,830,800 worth of common stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company listed recently on the New York Exchange in addition to the common stock already listed, has been sold to interests close to the company for years.

Under a contract made in December, 1926, the price paid for the new stock was $35 a share, the market price then, stockholders authorized the issuance of the new stock years ago.

It has been rumored for months that a fight is being made for control of the company, the largest bituminous mining firm in the country, and observers said the sale of the new stock might have an important bearing on the outcome.

Prior to the new listing about $32,000,000 common stock was outstanding.

"If Smith hops off from San Francisco, it is presumed that he will abide by all features of the aeronautical law," MacCracken said.

A theatrical troupe arrived in a New England town late one evening to find that no accommodations were to be had in the only hotel that the place afforded. The landlord did not seem a bit affected by the sad plight of the tourists, but after much persuasion the old fellow said that they could sleep in an abandoned church across the street. For want of any other shelter they accepted, and retired for the night.

About two o'clock in the morning the landlord heard the church bell ringing vigorously and sent his son over to see what was the matter. Jake brought back the report: "They ain't nothing the matter, Pop, but the gent in pew twelve wants a couple of gin fizzes sent right over."

Making Hundred Bumpers Daily At New Plant Here

The Bright Auto Bumper company on South Mill street, this city is turning out approximately 100 bumpers here a day, according to Alex Crowe, manager of the company.

He states that the company is preparing to fill two large orders at the present time. The bumpers manufactured here are being shipped all over the country.

The process by which they are manufactured at the plant is an interesting one. The first room is known as the grinding room. Here the bumper heads that contain the light are ground from a raw casting to a polished surface. They then pass on to the dipping processes. Here the heads of the main bumper are dipped either in nickle or copper. A room is also provided for enameling of the bumpers. In this room there is a pool of enamel six feet deep. The bumpers are dipped into this and then put into a heater where they are baked. In this way the bumpers are made more durable and the enamel put on better.

The next room is the machine room. Here holes are drilled in the metal for the wires and the metal pressed. The erecting room comes next. All the adjustments are made here and the reflectors put in. The lights are also put in here and a thorough test of every bumper made to determine whether the lights are focused right. Every bumper is tested before it leaves the plant.

A new reflector is being put in the bumpers now. Instead of the curves being in the glass as formerly, they are now in the reflector. A clean-cut piece of glass is used instead of glass with curves in it, making it possible for the lamp to throw out every particle of light that the bulb develops.

CLEARING THE AIR

FOR a fortnight radio programs have been traveling over newly charted airways. Shuffling of the wave lengths, frequencies, power and schedules of 697 stations has made radio logs well-nigh useless.

The purpose of the changes was to end, or at least to reduce to a minimum, confusion in the air. That the federal radio commission has succeeded in minimizing interference every owner of a receiving set will attest. The listeners are pleased.

While the commission's first duty is to the radio audience it recognizes a duty to broadcasting stations, although some of the shifted stations may deny such recognition.

Already there have been threats of injunctions to restrain the commission from enforcing its orders and of test cases to have the Dill-White radio control law declared unconstitutional, permitting a return to the pirating and confusion of a few months ago.

The public is worried both by the lack of an assured future policy and by the opposition to the commission and the law that created it. It has fears of drifting back into "chaos." Broadcasters, by their pirating, convinced the public that federal control was necessary and the best way they can change public opinion is by obeying to the letter the orders of the radio commission. For radio control the stations have only themselves to blame; they created the interference which converted a reluctant public opinion to control.

Knowing the personnel of the radio commission the public is confident if the stations will co-operate with it the coming radio season will find the situation greatly cleared.

PSEUDO CHAMPIONS

WHY any one should want to be the champion coffee drinker of America or champion pie eater of the world is a mystery that not even the champions themselves can solve.

It is easy to see why the American coffee drinking championship should be more desirable than the same honor in other countries, where coffee is made from almost anything except the coffee berry, but why should one man force down cup after cup of coffee just to beat another man's record? The same thing applies to pie, hard-boiled eggs and the marathon dance.

If any value attaches to such a championship, it is not visible to the eye nor to the average mind. The valiant gulper or dancer will not be pursued by movie magnates or the kings of vaudeville. The best he can hope for is a little newspaper publicity and a small picture in the Sunday supplements.

It must be that the coffee drinkers and pie eaters are suffering from the present extraordinary mania for contests and championships. The epidemic must have been started by the bathing beauty contests. Where it will end nobody knows.

However, are these persons champions in the real sense of that word? Can a person who is the only one, or one of a very small number, in his field rightfully lay claim to championship? The word championship implies superiority over others, something that can be proven only by direct competition. The only champion the public recognizes is the one who is unbeaten in the ring, runs the fastest and farthest, races to victory or otherwise proves his superiority over other contenders.

ALL IS SERENE

IT IS coincidental that just as President Coolidge was embarking for his summer vacation in the Black Hills of South Dakota, an impartial political observer in the Middle West remarked that there is "not a cloud in the sky." The statement is the more significant for its coming from the lips of one who is not a Coolidge man.

President Coolidge has well earned a vacation from executive cares and for that vacation there seems no more propitious time than the present. The people are at peace with their government. The president's hold on the affections of the people waxes rather than wanes. His backing in congress grows. And the taxpayers, both corporate and individual, look forward with pleasure to further governmental economies and tax reductions.

In Day's News

The Prince of Wales who is 33 years old today is looking forward to another visit to Canada this summer, this time to attend the diamond jubilee celebration of he Dominion confederation. He will probably make a trip to his ranch in the far west but it is not expected that he will remain long, for he plans to spend the gerater part of the summer in England—at Summerfield, the Duke of Sutherland's house at Pitch Hill, Surrey, which the Prince has taken for June, July and August. Summerfield is not an old house—it was built in 1913—but it is a very pleasant one and commands a beautiful view of the English countryside. It overlooks the Weald of Suxsex and from it on a clear day one may get a glimpse of the English channel. The house stands in a secluded spot and its quite should make an ideal "rest house" for the Prince when he can escape for a little while from his many duties.

The only chance to get any morning sleep now is for somebody to invent a lawn mower that will sound like an alarm clock.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:34. Sun rises tomorrow 4.29.

You ought to hear some of the figures quoted on land that people want to sell for an airship landing field in this vicinity. Ground on which one could not raise hell on is held at fabulous prices.

Charity gets a big lot of money every now and then when some rich man dies. A Pittsburgh millionaire has just left fifteen million dollars to charity. We often have wondered how much charity would get if the money were more evenly divided and there were no millionaires. You guess same as we do.

Samuel R. Huey, well known country gentleman who resides in Neshannock township joined the local Chamber of Commerce a few days ago. He said he had been overlooked by the canvassers in the recent campaign. Mr. Huey knows that if New Castle gets along well all of Lawrence county will benefit. He has the right spirit and his hosts of friends in New Castle are glad to have him join the local chamber.

It isn't really summer until you discover that your wife gave your old fishing clothes to the rag man.

An Oil City man shot himself after drinking 56 bottles of home brew, a pint of alcohol and four cans of canned heat. It's a wonder he had to resort to the use of a gun at all after punishing himself like that.

A saloonkeeper in New Jersey was fined $100 as a disorderly person because he let his nine year old daughter tend bar in his suds emporium. It seems to us he got off mighty easy at that.

We are stumped! We saw a sign reading "Saws Filed and Set." All the "esses" were written backwards. It looked funny. How the dickens we are going to print it so you can see how funny that sign looked is beyond us. We cannot print the "esses" backwards. It just simply cannot be done with a Linotype.

According to reports coming to us there are some brigands playing on the Sunday school baseball teams in this vicinity. We only hear this.

We have an idea that just as long as breweries are allowed to operate there will be high tension beer.

A doctor says women who smoke are liable to have everything. Yes, yes. Everything but matches.

The modern rule for conduct among the New Castle young people seems to be: "The things we want to do CAN'T be wrong."

One thing that can be truthfully said for near beer, we hear, is that a case of it lasts much longer than the other kind used to.

We know it is considered bad form to "let grass grow under your feet," but when we survey some front yards, we think there are those who would be willing to stand in their yards if they could get a nice lawn started that way.

A noted speaker in Philadelphia declared that only six out of every four hundred likker prescriptions are medicinal and that prohibition had made hypocrites out of our doctors and druggists. We really thought more of those prescriptions were medicinal, in spite of the fact that whiskey is not considered a medicine by many doctors.

About the only kind of help you can depend on in this world is self help. And the police will interfere in that some times.

Col. Lindbergh has already received more gifts than he has room for. A few days ago ten crates of plunder were sent to him in one load. He may be able to start a pawn shop or variety store if nothing else comes his way.

We are receiving an awful lot of poetry for this column and we would like to know how our readers like poetry before we try to discourage any of our good friends who are writing it.

THE CURSE OF ONE RIB

Now ladies and gents,
Just listen to this;
I'll tell a wee story
Of romance and bliss.

It's oft been related by
Prelates of old,
That when spring comes around
The young man's heart is sold.
There are no exceptions,
The story relates,
Twixt athletes, or sages,
Dumbells or Phi Betes.

When warm weather comes,
The man's thoughts are of love;
There's no hope for any
Not e'en from above.

Now folks, here's the moral
In this story of old.
The man is misjudged in
The facts that are told.
But no matter what calling,
Whether banker or printer,
The man's thoughts turn in spring,
To what the girl's think all winter.

Somehow or other as we look at women's fashions of 30 years ago and then at those of today we are inclined to laugh at both. And thirty years in the future we will have the same laugh if we live that long.

Nature has wisely decreed that all of us must die, and in this way we are certain the world will not become overcrowded with grouches.

Grover Bergdoll is said to think that the American people will feel more kindly to him if he comes back by air. We've a strong suspicion that they will feel right kindly toward the aviator who starts with him and mislays him somewhere in mid-Atlantic.

The Prince of Wales should learn a lesson from Col. Lindbergh's experiences and carry a parachute with him when he goes riding.

Some bug with a penchant for statistics states that the automobile business will be stabilized in about six years at the saturation point with 30,000,000 cars in use. So the job of the salesmen is easy. All they have to do in the next six years is to sell 8,000,000,000 cars to the new prospects.

The thermometer is now about to take a few degrees and they will all be high ones—up around 90 to 95.

Here's to a Lady: Though Titian might have done your hair, de Vinci done your arms, though Botticelli's talent rare might be behind your charms, though Giorgioni, were he here, might lend that glow of health, there isn't any doubt, old dear, you did your lips yourself.

Now just after we have had one day of summer and a good day at that, one of the predicting freaks comes along and says we are to have a very early and a very cold winter. If he actually knows, about such things, and he doesn't, he ought to be considerate enough to let us enjoy the few warm days he is giving us without thought of winter. Why some of us haven't had our furnaces cleaned yet and here is a bug predicting winter. Murder is justified at times.

Pola Negri wants the world to know that her present husband is a prince and anyone who says he is not is likely to suffer for it. Pola has threatened to bring suit against a magazine editor for dare saying that her latest man is not a prince at all. Pola married him for a prince and she wants the world to know that he is a prince.

A woman who wouldn't pay her taxes finally was lodged in jail and after a couple of hours of looking between the bars decided that outside was the place for her, and the tax money was paid. That is the way to treat tax dodgers all right, man or woman.

We have heard of one man who said he bought a car so he could get away from the radios. That reason is just about as good as any other .

The Army is short of musicians so the report has been sent out. Here is a good chance for many of those who toot around at night to get a good job and give their friends and neighbors a rest.

New Castle is going to have a nice quiet, sane Fourth of July again this year. Most everybody is planning to get out of the city.

WONDER

Stand under the stars:
Let their beauty penetrate your soul,
And the pettiness of small
Things will disappear;
The miracle of life, the
Wonder of creation, shines in
The night-heavens, it
Will move through your thoughts,
Ennobling them as beauty
Always ennobles.

One trouble with the world is that there is too much "lukewarmness." For goodness sakes, don't be lukewarm. Be for or against a thing, and make as much noise as you want to about it.

A friend of our is writing a book of verse entitled "High Ways to Die Ways." It begins:

This really is a prosperous country and has plenty of money left. After lending $23,000,000,000 to Europe, ten billions in government war loans, thirteen billions in private loans, "call money," with which to speculate, costs only 4 per cent.

Money is getting cheaper and will continue to get cheaper. In July, American citizens will give a good imitation of the non-spinning or toiling lily and will receive $550,000,000 in interest and dividends from corporations. All of which is rather discouraging to the bears.

President Lowell of Harvard says man should work with an ideal aim, not merely for profit. That is sound, but none of us, not even President Lowell, can know what we are really doing, as we build for the civilization of a million years hence.

Tiny creatures working in the South Seas, thousands of centuries ago, building up coral reefs, could little imagine they were creating islands on which palm trees would grow and ladies and gentlemen, from far off lands, sit on the sand and take the sun cure.

We tiny creatures, far below the surface of real civilization are building we know not what.

This country, in another "scrapping contest," offers to destroy 142,000 tons of American war shipping, if Britain will scrap 60,000 tons and Japan 40,000.

Should not the people who paid for those ships be consulted about scapping? Congress should have a chance to pass on destroying that for which it appropriated real money.

King George's son, the Duke of York, appeals for a fund of a million pounds to establish "national playing fields."

"Young men should exercise, not merely watch others exercise," says the prince, "and the choice in leisure is between dissipation and recreation."

In this country, millions of children do their playing in paved streets, dodging motor trucks, and millions of adults sit and watch "nine on a side" taking exercise.

The British know it pays to keep "the common people" happy and exercised.

Henry Ford will soon introduce a new car, different in some ways from its 15,000,000 little brothers and sisters running around the United States. Various descriptions of the new car, price, features, etc., have been published, but Edsel B. Ford says no details have been given out, and nobody in the Ford organization is in a position to give them with accuracy and authority."

The important thing is to realize, as first emphasized by R. H. Grant, that each American family should have at least two automobiles, one for the father, one for the mother, or for the oldest son or daughter.

A family would be in a sad condition if it had only one pair of feet, and the father took them away in the morning, leaving the others footless.

That's how it is to have only one automobile. If you haven't your first automobile, get it. If you have the first, get the second. Automobiles, unlike horses, don't eat when they are not used.

More than half the big Chinese city of Liangchow was ruined by earthquake on May 24, it was learned. Many were killed, towers fell from the city gates, and pagodas, 2,000 years old, were shaken to the ground. Millions of Chinese will believe the earth dragon, annoyed shook himself and caused the trouble.

Somewhere on earth an earthquake happens every few minutes, sometimes big, sometimes little. Earth's crust settles here and there, liks the crust of a pie when you take it from the oven.

The greatest businesses in the world today are those which have to do with more rapid communication, either of men, of goods or ideas.

Of the greatest corporations in America, United States Steel takes the lead. It furnishes material for constructing road beds and wheels.

Then there are the great railroad companies like the Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania, the New York Central and the Union Pacific.

Along with these comes the American Telegraph and Telephone Company and the General Motors Corporation, also the Ford Company.

They all have to do with moving people and ideas and goods faster.

Civilization has come to mean rapidity of transportation and the great wealth of today and of the future is to be made by companies which increase the speed of traffic.

Almost all of these companies are American. The word which characterizes America is speed. We may not be getting anywhere compared with the rest of the world, but we are going faster. Backward countries are noted for their lack of wheels.

It has been said that China will not advance until it gets off of the ground. At present, their cabs are man drawn and their roads are miserable. When their people get to riding in automobiles and more on trains than they do, China will go forward in civilization.

Whether civilization is a good thing or not may be open to dispute, but we are rapidly on our way, and the more we speed up the more we are in the line of progress.

The best symbol of civilization is the wheel. Most inventions of recent years have consisted of those which make wheels go faster.

Intercommunication of one country with another produces many beneficial effects. It not only expands the commercial life of each country, but it tempers unhealthy nationalism. It tends to reduce jingoism.

The more a man realizes that there are other citizens of other countries than his own and to be tolerant of their point of view, the better citizen of his own country and of the world he becomes.

We need a sound and sane internationalism. We should not neglect loyalty to one's own family and country, but should be tolerant of others.

TROUBLE MAKERS.

When the destination of the Bellanca plane owned by Levine and piloted by Chamberlin was a matter of conjecture, a condition was disclosed in Europe by the Germans themselves which makes it very apparent that Germany and Russia are working very much together. There was some doubt expressed as to whether or not Chamberlin was headed for Berlin, or some point further East in order to make as great a distance flight as possible. It was then announced from Berlin that it would be hazardous for Chamberlin to attempt any other destination than one lying between Berlin and Moscow, or Moscow itself, because such was the only route East that was clearly marked by searchlights,—the only route in other words that was zealously guarded. Why?

Again I say the answer is apparent. Germany is making Russia its "Good Man Friday" to stir up all the trouble in the world it possibly can. After the trouble is properly started. Germany expects to profit by it, but never to assume any responsibility. The weak kneed Americans who always proclaim that the United States is wrong, that the United States lacks the culture, the refinement, and all that sort of thing which they say is possessed by Europeans, profess themselves to be outraged by the action of the Government of Great Britain in its spectacular raid upon the offices of "Arcos Limited." They even went so far as to say that all of the documents seized in that raid were only such documents as had been planted there by English officials seeking to discredit the Soviet Government. These "America Always Wrong" citizens are now adding that Great Britain is always wrong. They seem to be themselves hand in glove with the Bolshevik type. As a matter of fact, a great many of them are Parlor Socialists, and their constant cries for peace, and the Forgiveness of foreign debts

Keep Your Head.

When the road is rough or long,
Keep your head!
When the storms are blowing strong
Keep your head!
As you struggle towards your goal,
Though above the thunders roll,
Have yourself in good control,
Keep your head!

When it seems that danger's near,
Keep your head!
Let your mind be cool and clear,
Keep your head!
Eyes alert for what may rise,
Don't be taken by surprise.
Here's the motto of the wise;
Keep your head!

When the skies above are blue,
Keep your head!
When success has come to you,
Keep your head!
Don't be fooled by words of prai
Or the plaudits men may raise
Into careless, reckless ways,
Keep your head!

If there's money in your purse,
Keep your head!
Wealth and fame may prove a curse,
Keep your head!
For there's many a pit and snare
That may catch you, unaware,
Whether skies be foul or fair,
Keep your head!

FLOATING ISLANDS

There is nothing very new in the proposal that floating artificial islands, anchored in mid-ocean, will solve the major problems of transoceanic air traffic. The idea has been advanced by several serious-minded persons, over a period of at least three or four years.

Revival of interest in trans-Atlantic flights, however, has revived the talk about the floating islands.

The typically "practical" person will dismiss the idea at once as visionary.

But no great forward step in the progress of man has ever been made by the typically "practical" persons. The unimaginative have always seated themselves comfortably upon the hilltop of complacency and tossed brickbats at the march of progress. Generally these persons live long enough to find themselves alone on their hilltop, the parade having passed by while they were gathering more bricks to toss.

Travel by air to and from the distant parts of the earth is coming rapidly. Already it is an accomplished feat among the intrepid pioneers. It has been demonstrated again and again that airplanes and airships of the Zeppelin type can cross the Atlantic. The distances traversed without stopping are becoming greater and greater. Between the writing of these lines in my office in New York and your reading them in your home, wherever it may be, some flying record will be broken. The brave airmen, who have been trying for years to get the attention of the people centered upon long distance flying, are taking advantage of the present awakening, and they are going to do many startling things before the public forgets that travel by air is with us to stay.

Two boating islands, properly located, would bridge the ocean for practical, everyday flying between any American port and any other port in the world. A dozen such mid-ocean ports of call would make travel by air around the world and to any spot on the earth not only practical but popular.

The floating island visioned by engineers is a horseshoe-shaped dock, built of steel and concrete. The first ones would need to be large enough to maintain stability in any storm. Seagoing planes would alight in the water in the curve of the horseshoe, whence they could be lifted to drydock if necessary. Refueling and overhauling thus would be simplified and speeded up.

Each ocean-going dock would be lighted by strong beacons, and would take its place on mariners' maps. Practical? As practical as your kitchen table.

and Recognition of Russia, are only part and parcel of their Socialism.

Great Britain is long suffering. Its Government and people have had the reputation for generations of "Muddling Along," putting up with all sorts and conditions of people who happen to be living under the jurisdiction of the British Flag, but when the Government of Great Britain acts, it generally acts just as it did in the matter of "Arcos Ltd.," it handles things without gloves. Its officials cut through red tape when their patience is exhausted, and "diplomatic immunity" becomes as nothing when the welfare of the Nation is at stake. The threats of Soviet officials at Moscow to openly declare war on England is a joke. The Moscow government has been warring against every highly civilized government on the face of the Earth, covertly. As to openly bearing arms against any great Nation, such a thing is unthinkable. Russians can hardly support themselves, without thinking of spending their time and what little substance they have in cash in the making of war munitions, and the supporting of armies in the field. No, these Bolshevik Officials who are at once the Government of Russia and the Government of the Third International, are seeking to influence the backward Nations in the world to revolt. The trouble in China today has been fostered and is being fostered, by Moscow. Moscow is also seeking in every way possible by under cover methods, to overthrow the British Government in India. It is tampering in the Philippines. The peoples of the East that are influenced by the Soviets are those people where the illiteracy is greatest, where the Intelligence is at low ebb.

It is sad to see men who are in the employ, as learned men, of great Universities, aiding and abetting the Third International.

Radio Messages To Inform World Of Plane's Flight

Progress Of Trans-Atlantic Hop Will Be Flashed Out To World

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 23. — The buzzing signals "WTW—WTW—" the call letters of Commander Richard E. Byrd's America, will keep the world constantly in touch with the next trans-Atlantic flight and the flyers never will be "lost" so long as the radio equipment continues to function.

A statement issued today by the National Geographic Society declared that one of the valuable scientific aspects of Commander Byrd's voyage will be its contribution to radio transmission.

The set for the America was especially designed for the flight by Malcolm P. Hanson and L. A. Hyland at the naval research laboratory. Weighing but 25 pounds the set will have a sending range of 250 miles in daylight and 750 at night.

The America will transmit on 690 and 600 meters, the last wave length exclusively for distress signals. On these wave lengths all trans-Atlantic liners will be in touch with Byrd constantly. Automatically the radio set will transmit code signals throughout the flight.

Radio operators on the steamers by training their range finders on the America's signals will be able to chart its position at all times. If the signals should cease suddenly without explanation trouble can be inferred and ships can start for a rescue confident of the direction in which the plane lies. experts said.

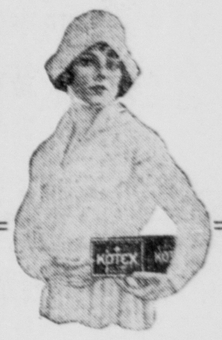
Women's Oldest Problem

in hygiene disappearing —new way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse



THE worries and fear of the uncertain hygienic ways of yesterday are rapidly passing. 8 in 10 better-class women employ a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards like tissue. No laundry, no disposal bother.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits lightest gowns and frocks without danger. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense. Doctors urge this way.

Many stores have Kotex already wrapped on counters, ready for you to pick up without even asking for it.

Try today and you'll never again risk uncertain old ways. Box contains 12. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Berry Inspection Tour Of Farmers

Pennsylvania Farmers To Take Trip Through Berry Sections June 30, July 1

A tour of Pennsylvania farmers interested in the production of berries will be run into Erie county, Pa., and Erie county, N. Y., on June 30 and July 1, according to information given from H. R. McCulloch of the Lawrence County Agriculture association.

W. S. Crout, extension specialist in plant disease from Pennsylvania State college, will be with the farmers throughout the trip. He promises those accompanying him on the tour a very instructive trip as it will pass through the section of Erie county, Pa., where the largest percent of disease free plants are produced yearly.

Those farmers of Lawrence county who are interested in making the tour should get in touch with McCulloch at his office on South Croton avenue not later than Saturday June 25.

Indianapolis Wants Manager Plan At Once

INDIANAPOLIS, June 23.—Formation of a permanent organization open to all citizens known as the City Manager league and efforts to have the state supreme court permit functioning of the new city manager government next January 1 were an aftermath today of the surrender by a five to 1 vote Tuesday of the city charter calling for a mayor and city council and institution of a city manager system.

An amendment forced through the last legislature in its dying hours would prevent the change until January 1, 1930.

The citizens committee of 1,000 sponsoring the new change feels every safeguard should be provided to make the new era a real house-cleaning.

Proportional representation in electing the seven city commissioners who name the manager is one proposed reform.

Boy Is Injured; Struck By Truck

Andy Nilkoisoko, a boy residing at 101 Fulton street, was severely bruised and otherwise injured, Wednesday, when as he ran across South Jefferson street, near the Carnegie Steel playgrounds, he went in front of the truck of Herman J. Frenegor of 1449 Haus street, Pittsburgh, Pa., and was knocked to the street pavement.

Frenegor, who was driving a truck of the National Biscuit Company, did everything possible to avoid the accident but found it impossible to keep from hitting the boy.

The boy was removed by Mr. Frenegor to the office of a physician, where it was found that while suffering from quite a number of bruises, that he was apparently not seriously injured.

PRESBYTERIAN GOLF PICNIC

Annual Get-Together On Golf Course To Occur On Tuesday, June 28

It seems as though one can be a Presbyterian and a golfer also, and in order to convince the world of this anomoly, the members of the First Presbyterian church who are members of the New Castle Field Club hold a Golf Picnic which opens with a long drive off the first tee and closes with a discourse on Foreordination and Predestination.

The annual Get Together will be held this year on Tuesday, June 28, at the Field Club, M. A. McLure being chairman of the Golf Committee, and E. A. Fenton, general chairman of the day.

The golf matches will be played under the club's handicap system with separate matches for the men and the women. Two teams will be selected from the entry cards received by Saturday night, ranked according to the handicap, and the two captains, Frank W. Smith and David H. Long will form the Men's Matches. The T. F. Morehead Cup, won last year by John B. Waddington will be competed for again this year.

Play will be started at 2:00 p. m. with all matches under way by 4:00. The dinner will be at 6:30 in the club dining room.

The financee of Komal Pasha, President of the Turkish Republic, is a beautiful 17-year-old Montenegrin girl who arrived with her father in the town of Brusa not long ago in search of work. Kemal Pasha happened to see her and was so struck by her beauty that he decided to pay for her education and then proposed marriage.

A FUTURE HIGHBROW

He was a solemn little boy and his chin barely reached the counter in the library's circulation room.

"Well, my little man," said one of the attendants, "what book shall it be today?"

"Oh, something about life," returned the little fellow philosophically.—Boston Transcript.

Farmers Store 59,209 Pounds Of Wool In Three Day's Effort

Pooling of wool for the Lawrence County Co-operative Wool Growers association ended Wednesday evening with 59,209 pounds of fleece having been graded by W. B. Connell, sheep and wool specialist from Pennsylvania State college, and stored in the house on Moravia street.

This year's pool was 3,000 pounds short of last year's when 62,000 pounds were stored, giving Lawrence county the second highest ever received in the state. The shortage of this year's pooling is made up by the fact that never in the eight years of the annual pooling here has the wool been of such high quality. This is shown by the fact that Fine Delaine fleeces were highest in weight, more farmers bringing in this quality of wool that the other four grades stored. They were: half blood, three-eighth blood, one-fourth blood and fine clothing.

H. R. McCulloch, county agent of the Lawrence County Agriculture association, points out that the wool growers of the county are taking more interest in the grade of wool they turn in. He states that some 500 pounds of wool brought to the store house during the three days were laid aside to be entered in one of the following two wool shows this year: State Farm products show at Harrisburg and the Tri-State Wool show, to be held at Cadiz, Ohio. McCulloch also says that he was well pleased when he found that the rejected wool amounted to only 941 pounds, one and one-tenth percent. This leads last year's discarded wool record by being over one percent less.

During Monday, the first day of the pool, farmers from North Beaver township and Butler county deposited 25,000 pounds of fine grade fleece. This record stood throughout the remaining two days.

Other records of note during the three days were set during Monday, they were as follows: The largest single load of the pool was brought in by the Treesdale farm of Mars, Pa., to the amount of 2,780 pounds; the largest Lawrence county pooler was W. J. Duff of North Beaver township who brought 1,565 pounds to the storehouse; the heaviest single fleece was that of Earl Wimer of Butler county, its weight was 23 pounds, and was of a very fine heavy buck variety.

Mr. Connell, who was assisted by W. M. C. Drake, president of the association, and other members of the board of directors, summarizes the three days in the following statement, "I have been grading the wool pooled in Lawrence county for the last eight years, and never have I found it to be of such high quality. This year the poundage was not so great but the quality was far superior. It was necessary for me to reject only a small portion of the wool and most of this rejected was of a very high quality. I look forward to next year when I am sure Lawrence county will store nothing but the highest grades.

Your Member Of Congress

By H. C. HUNTER
Secretary to
HON J. H. SWICK
At Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22. —Recent deeds of Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Levine have resulted in bringing aviation to the front in the minds of both the public and legislators, promising great developments in this latest mode of transportation within the next few years.

Heretofore, looked upon by the majority of citizens as mode of warfare, and as a source of thrills, aircraft has taken on a new guise, and it is conceded everywhere that the air lanes will become a vital and important part of our transportation and commercial life.

Civic organizations and individuals are flooding the desks of their congressmen with requests for information regarding the possibilities of establishing airports and landing fields in their cities and communities, more than a thousand cities over the country having already instituted plans for the establishment of municipal flying fields.

The Bureau of Aeronautics, under the Department of Commerce, has prepared exhaustive treaties on every detail of locating, constructing and maintaining airports, and maintains a staff of experts whose services are available as consultants to those cities who desire their services.

The Postoffice Department has adopted a policy of initiating air mail service wherever landing fields operated in accordance with regulations of the government are maintained.

Commercial carriers are rapidly coming into existence, the carrying capacity of planes being increased, until the concensus of opinion among those interested in aviation is that the city without an airport will be at a serious disadvantage in competition with those accepting the decree of time, and preparing for this new enterprise.

That the next Congress will spend considerable time in the study of commercial aviation is a foregone conclusion, and before adjournment will pass legislation tending to lend a decided impetus to its development, may also be reasonably expected. What form this legislation will take is problematical, although there is very little possibility of a subsidy, despite the efforts of some to have a subsidy bill enacted.

Queries regarding aviation in all its branches will receive prompt attention if addressed to the office of Congressman Swick.

Allentown Seeks Annual Meeting Of Real Estate Men

Erie Is Host To 1927 Convention Of Pennsylvania Real Estate Association

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., June 23.—Allentown delegates to the sixth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Real Estate association today made a strong bid for the honor of entertaining the convention next year.

To win the convention site for 1928 the Allentown delegates will have to defeat those from McKeesport in the balloting here tomorrow. The Western Pennsylvania City is trying to line up enough votes to beat out Allentown.

Allentown had a large number of delegates in attendance who are working in the interest of their city's bid for the convention, but McKeesport, being much nearer Erie than Allentown, also had one of the largest delegations present.

Business sessions got under way today with talks by Warren M. Cornell, Hatboro, Pa., and L. A. Springer, salesmanager of Blair, Inc., of Philadelphia.

The keynote of the convention is "sales service". Cornell talked on "farm listings and sales", and Springer on "securing exclusive listings at salable prices."

Presidents and secretaries of visiting boards attended a complimentary luncheon today, tendered by executives of the Erie real estate board. C. Edward Keck, Pittsburgh, president of the state association, reported the board's activities for the last six months in his opening address.

John M. Zerby, Philadelphia, won the annual cup contest, a five minute speech contest on the entrants home city. Other contestants were James F. Brown, Allentown; Homer Hanson, Altoona; James G. Lewis, Chester; Frank S. Moran, New Kensington; Nelson E. Walrath, McKeesport; Harold A. Steel, Scranton; K. Meryl Silk, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Minnie McGrew, Washington; William E. Morgan, Wilkesbarre, and H. E. Boice, Williamsport.

Officers will be elected at tomorrow's session.

Czechoslovakia Has Law Against Gypsies

(International News Service)

VIENNA, June 23.—Gypsies are to be controlled and there is to be an end to roving in Czechoslovakia.

The Czechoslovakian government has drafted a measure for the systematic control of gypsies (Zigeuner) who abound especially in Slovakia and who are to be treated as vagrants if they do not settle down to steady occupations. They will be confined in penal colonies where they will be forced to work.

Already a classification is being made and albums are to be prepared containing the finger prints of all known gypsies, so that if they escape from such colonies their apprehension and identification may be simplified.

Roving bands, in this way, are to be abolished altogether and the pilfering marauding type treated as outlaws, after brief notice has been given them to abandon their nomadic life and ways.

Awful thought! When at last Italy licks the world and owns everything, there won't be any need of patriotism.

Marked Contrast In Lindy's Visits

Flier Drops Into Washington Today For Strictly Business Visit

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 23.—In sharp contrast with the triumphal pageantry of his historic debut in the national capital ten days ago, arrangements for Colonel Lindbergh's arrival today were marked by a score of formidable signs which shouted "strictly business."

If there are to be any social functions in honor of the tired-but-still-smiling Lone Eagle of the Atlantic, no one in official circles knows anything about them. If there is to be more public acclaim, it will be given and received on the fly, or through the sombre grey walls of half a dozen government buildings in which Lindy will confer with army and navy aviation experts, state department officials and representatives of the Canadian government.

Lindy's schedule for his 36-hour stop here, before taking off for New York tomorrow, called for conference with Assistant Secretaries Davison, of the war department, Warner of the navy, and McCracken of commerce, each of whom is in charge of aviation in his department. In these meetings, plans for a national flying tour in the "Spirit of St. Louis", to begin about mid-July, will be discussed. At the navy conference, the young airman will also receive the view of officers who have studied technical references in his log of the epochal tran-Atlantic flight, written on board the Cruiser Memphis on the return trip from Europe.

Steel Exposition Big Detroit Event

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, June 23.—The ninth annual National Steel and Machine Tool Exposition, to be held this year in Detroit, the week of September 19, will from early indications be the biggest ever seen, officials of the sponsoring American Society for Steel Treating announced today at their Cleveland headquarters.

An innovation this year will be the inclusion of the annual exhibit of the American Welding Society which meets in Detroit the week of the exposition and therefore decided to merge its exhibit with the larger one instead of holding the usual independent show.

Last year's record-breaking exposition in Chicago probably will be surpassed and a new record established, show officials believe.

In booking exhibitors, every precaution is being taken to make this the best balanced factory equipment exposition held, including as many lines as possible and guarding against predominance by any line. Included in the exhibits will be steel, raw material, heat treating equipment, small tools, machine tools, forging equipment, inspection, handling and welding materials.

Abandon Baby On Side Porch At Steubenville

(International News Service)

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 23.—A three-weeks-old baby, in good health and well dressed, was found on the porch of a side street residence here today. Whoever had abandoned the infant left two bottles of milk with it, but no note. The child was found by a deputy sheriff while walking along the street. He turned it over to the Red Cross Bureau.

Phone System Gains 781,000 In A Year

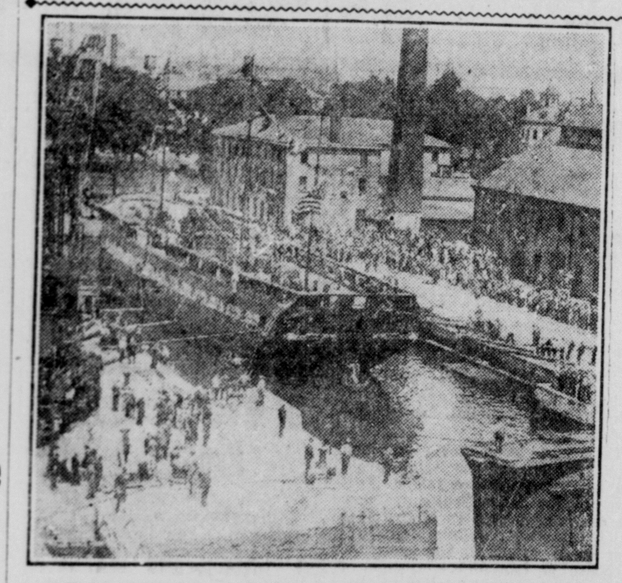
(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 23.—The increase in telephone facilities and the stupendous acceptance of the advantages of the telephone as taken by the American public in recent years is told in figures recently computed by the telephone companies of the Bell System.

During the past year there has been a gain of 781,000 telephones owned and operated by the Bell System which spread over the land in homes and business offices is considered a marked increase. During the same period the total number of exchange telephone calls increased by 1,091,000,000 over the previous year, and the number of toll and long distance calls increased by 90,500,000.

More than 664,000 miles of toll wire was added during the year, the largest number of miles added in one year. Exchange wire mileage in 1926 increased over 1925 by 4,723,000 miles.

"OLD IRONSIDES" IN DRYDOCK



The old frigate-of-war Constitution ("Old Ironsides") is in drydock at last, at the Charleston, Mass., navy yard, for reconditioning and extensive repairs—the first since 1833, when the historic ship was saved from the scrap heap by the famous poem of Oliver Wendell Holmes, "Old Ironsides."

Movie Industry Salaries Are Cut

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 23.—Jesse L. Lasky, vice president of Paramount-Famous Players-Laskey Corporation, today anounced a ten per cent reduction in salaries at the company's studios here as the first step to meet a situation caused by mounting cost of picture production.

"Our industry has reached the period of stabilization—the age of discretion, we have been spending too much for what we have been getting" he explained.

Every employe receiving more than $50 a week has been asked to accept the reduction voluntarily. Those receiving higher salaries will be requested to take a proportionately larger percentage of reduction.

TRIES SUICIDE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—After firing four bullets into his head, Phillip Mucora, 37, a shoemaker walked 100 yards before he collapsed here today. In a critical condition, he was rushed to a hospital. Worry over financial reverses was blamed for the attempted suicide.

Lindy May Make Lecture Tour Of Entire Country

(International News Service)

DAYTON, June 23.—"I am going to Washington to make arrangements for my future," Col. Lindbergh told reporters at the field just prior to his take-off. "It will probably include a platform lecture tour. I will not have any connection with the motion picture industry."

Lindbergh expressed regret that "it had been necessary to disappoint the people of Dayton" and expressed the hope that he would be able to return later to the city.

Locomotive To Be Parked In Plot For Autos

For the first time in New Castle, a locomotive will be parked in a ground devoted to the parking of automobiles, Kennedy Bros., having made arrangements to park the engine formerly used at the Atlantic furnace, now dismantled, at the Genkinger-Ludwig plot in West Washington street. The locomotive will be run into the private railroad siding and may be parked there several months, it is said.

Sentiment must be pretty evenly divided when even the best of politicians can't decide whether to be wet or dry.

Trans-Atlantic Flights Help Sell Planes In South America

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Lindy's flight promises to give a big boost to the South American market for airplanes made in this country—if North American concerns are enterprising enough to take advantage of it.

They never have been in the past.

At any rate, no energetic attempt ever has been undertaken to push sales in the very part of the world where, of all others, aviation ought to flourish most vigorously.

European manufacturers haven't been so backward. They gained a start on the United States directly after the war, and, from all accounts, have kept it. Still, even Europeans seem to have been singularly remiss in following up their opportunity.

Our army's Latin-American "Good Will" flying expedition ought to have given this country some favorable advertising, and probably did, but of course it has to be backed by salesmanship.

Why, with all our bragging about our enterprise, we continue to neglect what I know, from personal observation, to be so wide-open a field, always has been one of the mysteries to me. However, we do. I know that from personal observation also.

Now, right after the "Good Will" folks, along comes Lindy and jumps the Atlantic.

The South American conclusion, so they tell me, is that if Lindy's North American plane could do what it did for Lindy, almost any North American plane can do nearly anything for anybody.

I heard of several nice South American nibbles already.

They'll get tired of it after awhile, though, and flock over to Europe, if past experience counts for anything, before we take the trouble to reel in and land 'em.

A large part of the South American east coast, be it understood, is flat as a pancake—in that respect well adapted to aviation.

Of course the west coast is corrugated by the Andes, but that's a mere margin. The level country, barring the extreme north and a few scattered small ranges, extends from the Atlantic nearly across the continent, to the Pacific coast jumping-off-place.

There's also a deal of jungle, which it will take time to conquer, but there are likewise tremendous stretches of almost treeless pampas.

From the aviation standpoint, the beauty of these prairies is that railroads are few and far between and the wagon roads are awful. When it's wet they're impassable.

There are thickly settled districts—parts of South America are plenty inhabited—where travel's impossible for weeks at a time, except on horseback, every season. One estanciero, or rancher, I once knew in the Argentine, used to be practically marooned on his place each spring—until finally he bought a plane (European) which took him into town in a few minutes.

That's what I call an aviation country.

There are big water courses even through the jungles, with some sizable towns on their banks.

They're negotiable by boat, to be sure, but it's slow, and, besides, there are rapids and cataracts. What does a hydroplane care for water falls and rapids!

So far as I can see, the South Americans never need any roads, if only we have gumption enough to supply 'em with plenty of aviation.

They tell me this BUCKEYE is wonderful stuff!

War Surgeon Gets Quarter-Million For Loss Of Eye

NEW YORK, June 23.—Dr. Joseph C. Yocum of Middletown, N. Y., was awarded $250,000 damages by a sealed verdict today in the supreme court for total blindness that resulted from an injury sustained in 1921 when he was struck by a bolt while a passenger on an interborough subway train.

Dr. Yocum 50, formerly was a surgeon at the Skin and Cancer hospital. He sued for $500,000.

Dr. Yocum served in the French British and American armies in the World War and has been decorated for distinguished service by both the French and American governments. During the war he performed more than 3,300 major operations upon soldiers.

Besides being one of the foremost physicians in the United States, Dr. William S. Thayer of Baltimore, the new president of the American Medical Association, has attracted considerable attention as a poet.

This way to get clothes whiter is so safe!

No scrubbing or boiling!

DROP those old-fashioned washday habits! Let this new way save you work—and save the clothes, too.

You don't need your washboard any more. You don't need to boil the wash unless you want to. You don't need any powders, bar soap, softeners, chips.

All you need is Rinso! Even in hard water, Rinso gives thick suds. Not big frothy bubbles—but creamy, tight, soapy suds that swish through the fabric and loosen dirt and stains. All you need to do is rinse!

Clothes come out of the Rinso soaking whiter, brighter than you can rub them. Of course they last longer, this gentle way. And your hands aren't ruined by scrubbing.

So safe, too. That's why the makers of 30 leading washing machines highly endorse it.

Rinso

The granulated soap that soaks clothes whiter—no scrubbing

"Anti-Blue Law Party" Is Formed

Announcement Of New National Party Comes Out of New York

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 23.—A new political party known as the "Anti Blue party" was launched here Wednesday and probably will hold a national convention in New York in 1928.

According to the association opposed to blue laws, which is sponsoring the new movement, the party will either nominate its own candidates for president and vice president next year or endorse those candidates of the major parties "most satisfactory."

The new party's national committee as announced is composed of the following with other appointments to be made later:

A. S. Bosworth, Elkins, W. Va.; Chas. D. Raymer, Seattle, Wash.; L. W. Randolph, Mt. Rainer, Md.; Chester C. Platt, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Howell S. England, Detroit, Mich.; Olin J. Ross, Columbus, O.; J. W. Nigh, Clarendon, Va.; Dr. J. A. Themper, Washington, D. C.; Geo. C. Marclay, Ogdenburgh, N. Y.; E. Haldeman-Julius, Girard, Kas.; Clarence Darrow, Chicago; Rupert Hughes, Los Angeles; Geo. N. Falconer, Denver, Hugh P. Meese, Braddock, Pa.; E. B. Gaston, Fairhope, Ala.; H. G. Teigan, Minneapolis; P. Maurice McMahon, Honolulu.

The party, according to a formal statement, will center its attack on anti-evolution and Sunday blue laws. But will be neutral on all other public questions, including prohibition. Its membership, it was stated, embraces Republicans, Democrats, Progressives, Socialists and others, as well as members of all denominations.

Costs One Cent To Fill Pen In Boston Library

BOSTON, June 23.—Fountain Penn-filling fans now have only the postoffice left. The public library has posted notice that hereafter ink will be sold at a cent a fill.

Officials declared in explanation of the new rule that students had been found to bring as many as half a dozen pens to dip into public inkwells at the desks and in the reading rooms while the building was being frequented by increasing numbers of persons who made no pretense at reading at all.

Library attendants said the city did not expect to make money by the new arrangement.

Fugitive Russian Sect Sought By Expedition

BLAGOVESHENSK, Amur Province, U. S. S. R., June 23.—Mystery surrounding the fate of two settlements of Russian peasants, members of a religious sect who are said to have fled from the horros of civil war in Siberia during 1918-20 to the wild Kinzano forests of Northern Amur has prompted the newspaper Amur Pravda to despatch an expedition in search of them.

They are said to have had no contact with the outer world since 1919, living by fishing and hunting and leading a primitive life. Their existence was first reported several months ago by native trappers who occasionally caught sight of long bearded, haggard figures who disappeared in the bush the moment they were observed.

It isn't so very difficult to succeed if you have industry, common sense and a few first-class enemies.

Prince Edward Isle To Vote On Liquor

Canadian Province, After Trial Of Prohibition, May Join Wet Ranks

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., June 23.—Possibility that another Canadian province will enter the wet ranks after several years of prohibition was seen today as the date for the provincial election approaches.

The main issue to be decided June 25 concerns the liquor problem in Prince Edward Island. This province and Nova Scotia are now the only dry provinces of the nine which compose the Dominion. Premier J. D. Stewart, Conservative, purposes to institute a system of Government control similar to that in the seven wet provinces if he receives a mandate from the electors to do so.

A. C. Saunders, liberal leader, advocates Prohibition with amendments to the present temperance act, which will make it more workable; reduction in cost of liquor sold for medicinal purposes, reduction in fees charged by physicians for issuing prescriptions and more rigorous enforcement of the act as well as closer cooperation with the Federal Government in prevention of smuggling.

Prince Edward Island is the second province in which the liquor question has become an election issue.

Raiding Constable Of Avella Held As Protection Seller

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 23.—Joseph Neil, a "raiding" constable of Crosscreek township, was at liberty under $1,000 bail today, charged with extortion by Lorenz Granto and Mrs. Adaline Perry of the Avella district. Neil has been active in prosecuting prohibition violators.

Granto and the woman testified at a hearing before Alderman A. A. Cummings that Neil had extorted money from them on a promise that they would be protected in selling and manufacturing liquor.

Granto, admitted head of a moonshine organization, said he testified against the officer "to get even" because Neil had "double-crossed" him by raiding one of his establishments.

Mrs. Perry declared she had purchased liquor from Neil and paid him $50 for "protection", but that he became angry and arrested her when she refused to meet him. Another witness, Alfred Pelligrini of Pittsburgh, testified the officer accepted $50 and allowed him to go free after finding a revolver on his person.

Make Awards At Rose Show

Large Crowd Attends Sessions Of Garden Club Exhibition

SHOW CLOSES THIS EVENING

Attendance records for the opening day of the annual Rose Show were broken Wednesday in the Carnegie auditorium, the number present far exceeding that of previous years. This may have been occasioned by the increasing interest in such affairs here, or it may be that the quality of this year's show had something to do with it.

Whatever the reason, the crowd on Wednesday afternoon and evening was a splendid one and will probably be surpassed this afternoon and tonight, when the show closes.

At the Wednesday evening showing Thomas Cunningham of the Butz Brothers Company presented an illustrated lecture on the right kind of table decorations. He made up a number of displays and finished with a Colonial nosegay. This was presented to Mrs. A. L. Thayer, president of the Sorosis Club, which club arranged for the demonstration by Mr. Cunningham.

Scout troop 13, the same troop which has acted at previous rose shows, was present Wednesday evening, and as usual performed splendid service as attendants. Through the courtesy of Congressman J. Howard Swick, every person present was presented with a treatise on rose culture and the care and planting of trees.

The committee in charge is grateful to the merchants who co-operated in their advertising, and to the florists who have so generously given materials to aid in the success of the show.

Late Wednesday the judges completed the adjudication of the exhibits. The committee of judges was composed of R. G. Fletcher, superintendent of the B. F. Jones estate in Sewickley; Herman Rapp, superintendent of the Watson Orphanage in Sewickley; Henry Richardson, a commercial grower of Sewickley; Mrs. Edith Kaufman, president of the Youngstown Garden Club; Mrs. William Warner and Mrs. James Stitt of Youngstown, O.

The winner of the Federation of Women's Club $10 prize for civic improvement was awarded to the Sorosis Club, of which Mrs. A. L. Thayer is president. The achievement medal given by the Lawrence County Garden Club, was awarded to Mrs. D. R. Harris. The Mrs. William M. Brown silver vase for the best display of roses went to Mrs. E. W. Greiner. Cup donated by Miss May Hoyt for a rose display was awarded to Mrs. D. G. Harris. The peonie prize, which was an autographed copy of Mrs. Ed. Harding's work on peonies, was won by Mrs. S. J. Bratschie. The book ends donated by Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger was awarded to Mrs. B. K. Thacker. The seven prizes for first exhibitors were awarded to Mrs. Frank Hanna, Mrs. E. E. McGill, Miss Anna Paolise, Miss Dorothy Blim, Miss Eleanor Mechem, Mrs. Clyde Swogger of New Bedford and Mrs. C. Campbell.

The Rose Show will close this evening.

De Valera Faction Stirs Up Trouble

Eamon De Valera And Republican Faction Plan To Take Seats In Cabinet

(International News Service)

DUBLIN, June 23.—Eamon De Valera came into the forefront of Irish politics again this afternoon, when with his forty-four Republican deputy followers, he marched into the Dail Eiran building with the avowed intention of taking the seats to which they were recently elected without taking the oath of office.

There were cheers, some booing and intense excitement when De Valera and his followers entered the building at 2:30 without hindrance. At the end of half an hour the group was still in the corridors arguing with officials and refusing to leave.

The Republicans were reported to be considering taking the oath under protest.

Police were about the Dial building in great numbers and only deputies, officials and police were allowed to enter the building.

Greece Asks Return Of "Elgin" Marbles

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 23.—A century-old controversy is revived again by the appeal by Greece for the return of part of the Elgin marbles, now in the British Museum.

Alexandros Philadelpheus, former Director of the Acropolis at Athens, is urging that the Carayatid and the Ionic column of the Attic temple, which, he contends, add nothing to the Museum, should be restored to the original positions.

The Elgin marbles were brought from Greece by the seventh Earl of Elgin, then ambassador to the Porte. Athens was at that time a Turkish fortress. They are said to have cost the earl $370,000 and were acquired by the Museum for $175,000. There was a fierce controversy at the time as to the value of the statues and Lord Elgin's right to remove them from Athens.

Russia's is a hard lot. The Reds must make people prosper to prove their system sound, and prosperous people hate radicals.

The celluloid legbands which poultrymen use for marking the individual birds of their flocks are an improvement over the brass rings we formerly used to slip a curtain along a rod. Attorney General Flays Mockery Of Laws By Public

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., June 23.—Deploring a flippant and jeering attitude toward the law and enforcement officers, Attorney General Sargeant in an address here Wednesday night before the Pennsylvania Bar Association declared that private will could not be substituted for public conditions.

With changing economic conditions that bring comforts and luxuries with shorter hours and freedom from exertion and weariness, the tendency, he said, is to forget the serious side of the relationship of the individual to society and to turn liberty under law into indulgence regardless of law.

Violators Not Heroes

"You cannot constantly, day after day," said the attorney general, "treat the antics and predicaments of the opium-user as a funny spectacle, the smuggler who provides him with his ruinous poison as a hero, and the officers who undertake to ferret out and punish and prevent the smuggling as snoopers, smellers, gumshoe artists and so on through the whole list of vilification, without cultivating and raising up in minds of the thoughtless—and the thinking who want to take that view—the feeling, the impression that the man who robs a mail car, who kills a guard defending the mail, is a hero, too, and that the officers of the law engaged in ferreting out and apprehending the heroic robber are snoopers, gumshoe artists, worthy only of opposition and discouragement in every way possible.

"When intelligent, educated men hold up to ridicule the rules for its conduct which society has made; intimate, and by innuendo and suggestion advise that such rules ought to be violated; ridicule and revile as undesirable members of the community, men sworn to defend and enforce its rules; devote their intelligence, wit and resources to making crime and criminals interesting and attractive, why is it not to be expected that the thoughtless, the unfortunate, the ignorant, the victims, will try to get rid of the oppressors of the criminal in any way, by any means, any violence that will be most effective?"

Scores "Purchasers."

"Day by day, because some one pays for the doing of it, and because the great body of law, abiding citizens is complaisant and says nothing to show its disapproval, flippant, jeering writers, publishers, soap box orators, cabaret performers sow the wind; and society reaps it all in whirlwinds which blast and destroy."

The attorney general, without mentioning prohibition, asserted that in buying any commodity, traffic in which is forbidden by law, the purchaser is directly sanctioning and rewarding a violation of the law in exactly the same manner as does the receiver of stolen goods; by making the transaction profitable.

"It will not do," he asserted, "to say in the same breath 'I believe in and demand enforcement of the laws of the county, and I will pay well any man who will violate those laws'."

Called Sultan Monkey, Officer Is Arrested

MANILA, June 23.—Major Orville M. Johnson of the Philippine constabulary and governor of Lanao Province of Mindanao island was arrested today at Cebu for slander in having called Sultan Ariraya a monkey.

Johnson and Ariraya were witnesses in a libel suit against La Revolucion a newspaper of Cebu which accused Gov. Gen. Wood and Johnson of having promoted unrest among the Moros of Lanao. Johnson said the Sultan made a monkey of himself in his testimony. Johnson was released on bail.

Boy Eats Frog Alive And Wins $1.50 Bet

NILES, Mich., June 23.—Sammy Miller, 16-year-old youth of the village of Summerville, near here, is a born gambler. In any event, when he offered to bet at a ball game that he would eat a frog alive for $1.50 he did not hesitate to devour the frog when three youths stepped forward and each laid down 50 cents.

Miller, so the story runs, seemed to relish the frog. But not so the young men who accepted the wager, for they became decidedly seasick.

Railroad Plans Big Development

Your Boy or Girl can learn to play the piano by the new and interesting plan offered FREE by the Snyder Piano Co., and known as "The Melody Way Club."

Our First Class of Seventy-Two Graduated and Received Their Diplomas at the Recital Given in the Y. W. C. A. Auditorium May 26th

Children are Now Enrolling for the Second Class Which Starts Very Soon.

The New Way of Learning to Play the Piano

IT'S FASCINATING

CHILDREN MAKE SWIFT PROGRESS

NO PIANO IS NEEDED AT HOME

This new way, now widely used, delights children and parents and has many advantages for both.

Class Instruction the Melody Way

is a simplified, interesting method for beginners. Children learn to play delightful melodies on the piano in two or three lessons. Classes will be limited, so enroll now. Phone, call or write for full information.

This wonderful new method, by W. Otto Miessner, past president of the Music Supervisors' National Conference, enables children to make rapid progress because it uses what they have learned in school music.

Children love class instruction—a "Melody Way" lesson is a joy, because their playmates are there; practice becomes an interesting game; boys learn as readily as girls.

No piano is needed for the beginning term; the Melody Way set of materials includes a practice keyboard and key finder, which makes practice an interesting game. Children learn to play delightful melodies in two or three lessons.

American Legion Will Demand Revision Of Rules Of U. S. Senate

Convention To Demand Changes To Prevent Duplication Of Filibuster

Many Worthy Projects For Veterans Killed By Filibuster Effect

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of the News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23.—The American Legion is expected to demand, at its Paris convention in September, a revision of the rules of the Senate and the House of Representatives to prevent the smothering of measures favored by the majority of the members of Congress by filibuster or the steamroller methods of committees.

This was learned here today from authentic sources within the American Legion, Veterans of the World War, as well as of other wars of the United States, saw some of their favorite bills lost in the filibuster that closed the Sixty-ninth Congress, and likewise saw one of the bills they have worked for through several years fail to get action, largely because of the opposition of one man.

Hospitals badly needed for disabled and sick veterans were not authorized, although a tremendous majority of both houses was in favor of the measure, because of the filibuster in the Senate, after the bill had already passed the House of Representatives.

Payments Held Up

May payments of pensions to veterans of various wars were held up because the same filibuster prevented the passage of the Second Deficiency Appropriation bill.

And the Emergency Officers' Retirement bill was lost, after it had finally won a favorable report from the Senate Military Affairs Committee because one lame duck senator opposed it. That senator was James W. Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, and chairman of the Republican Steering Committee of the Senate. He had opposed the measure in committee, but its advocates had finally forced a favorable report on it. Then, whenever its author, Senator Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee, a Democrat, tried to call the bill up for a vote, it was blocked through Senator Wadsworth's opposition. As chairman of the Steering Committee, he could have obtained action upon it at any time before the filibuster began.

This bill would have put emergency officers, who served during the World War, on the same retirement basis as officers in the regular army. It has the support of the American Legion.

May Support Dawes

This interest in the revision of rules in the Senate and the House of Representatives, forced upon the American Legion by the loss of its measures, may give rise to a movement in the American Legion to support Vice President Charles G. Dawes for the presidency. He is the most expressive advocate of a revision of Senate rules.

After other wars of the United States, the veterans have elected one of their heroes as president. After the Revolution, there was Washington. After the War of 1812, there was Andrew Jackson. After important Indians wars, there was William Henry Harrison—elected with John Tyler on the slogan, "Tippicanoe and Tyler too." After the Civil War there was General Grant. After the Spanish-American War, there was Theodore Roosevelt, who with his Rough Riders, was the hero of San Juan Hill.

But the World War has not been followed by a veteran President. Dawes has the respect of the veterans, through his organization of the Service of Supplies in France. He has been with the Legion on most measures.

"Not in Politics

Of course, the American Legion insists that it does not participate in politics. But it offers a most effective means of concentrating interest on issues and men. And it certainly lobbies on measures directly affecting veterans of the World War.

Less decisive action by the American Legion is expected on another subject of interest to the Legion—military and naval aviation. An aviation commission was appointed at the last American Legion convention, and this commission is expected to report at the Paris convention. As it is not an official "standing committee," its report will be referred to another committee, which would have to recommend action, if any action is taken. This commission is expected to report favorably on a separate aviation department, like the air ministries of the various European countries. American Legion leaders here doubt, however, that the Paris convention will take definite action on this proposal.

"Billy" Mitchell, ousted from the service by what he call the "army bureaucrats," has again stirred up a violent controversy on aviation for the national defense, following the Lindbergh flight. While his attacks this time have been specifically aimed at the Navy's handling of aviation, he has only slightly more respect for the Army's management of its air forces.

Urge Aviation Progress

The Lindbergh and Chamberlin flights have caused "big Army and Navy men" to urge more expenditures on aviation for the national defense, and on anti-aircraft defenses. They declare that these flights have made America much more vulnerable to air attacks from Europe, and they are expected to demand a greatly increased appropriation for military and naval aviation on the basis of the two nonstop trans-Atlantic flights.

But the whole question of a separate aviation department, with a Secretary for Air in the Cabinet, has been so involved with politics inside the War and Navy departments, and so confused by bitter controversies largely centered around personalities, that the American Legion may not take definite action for or against a separate air ministry.

At any rate, the American Legion will have an opportunity to see what the air ministries of Europe have achieved, when it goes to Paris for its convention September 19-23, and if it likes the results obtained by separate air ministries, its members may come back more insistent on taking the development of aviation out of the three pairs of hands of the Army, Navy, and Commerce departments, and concentrate all development of aviation, both defensive and commercial, in one of department of the government.

But as far as politics back home is concerned, the chief political issue of the Paris convention of the American Legion is likely to be that revision of Senate rules which Vice President Dawes is so insistently demanding. As this issue also reacts upon one of the presidential possibilities for 1928, the American Legion's action in Paris is stirring up considerable interest in Washington political circles.

New England Studies Tourists To Encourage Them As Cash Asset

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Me., June 23.—New England is undergoing a period of reformation as regards its attitude toward the value of its tourists trade the New England Souncil has found after an exhaustive study of the tourist situation.

With information gathered by the State of Maine Publicity Bureau the Council has found that last year the average expenditure of summer visitors was $85.81 per person while in Maine. Figuring on that basis every thousand visitors meant a cash expenditure in the state of nearly $100,000.

Since New England's summer visitors are numbered by the hundreds of thousands, it is obvious the Council finds, that New England's visitors increase the section's cash income by tens of millions of dollars.

Realizing that the summer visitor is a cash asset, and a definite source of income, residents of New England are putting forth every effort to make this part of the country one of appeal to the summer tourist and vacationist. The New England Council has found from its investigations that today in New England, there is a new appreciation of and interest in the visitor as a source of increment to the incomes of this region.

In every one of the five states publicity bureaus are working for the furtherment of the interests of all five. In every chamber of commerce and municipal office, the spirit is one of welcome to the visitor and New England as a consequence looks forward to the biggest season ever this year.

It still remains true that the way of the transgressor is hard.

Truck Being Pulled Out Of Mud Runs Over Man, Who Dies

CORAOPOLIS, Pa., June 23.—Andrew Owens, 50, of Montour street, Coraopolis, in trying to move his motor truck out of the mire near Clinton with the aid of horses yesterday afternoon, slipped and fell in the path of a wheel, which rolled over his neck before the animals could be stopped. He died a short time later of a broken neck after Dr. L. D. McCartney had given him emergency treatment.

His son, William Owens, who saw the accident, will appear in the coroner's office today to make a statement, according to Deputy Coroner Frank Immekus, who investigated the case. The Owens were hauling garbage when the machine stalled in the mud.

Road Activity In Mercer County

Many Lesser Improvements Are Sought; Other News Of Mercer

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., June 23.—Aside from the program of hard road construction in this county to be backed up by a bond issue asked by the State Highway Department and County Commissioners there is activity galore among roads of lesser importance. The records of this week are proof of this statement.

Here is a brief summary of the documents filed pertaining to roads: four petitions asking that parts of the Sandy Lake to Franklin road be vacated as provided for by law due to the revamping of the route by the building of the improved road; recommendation of a new road from the Greenville-Hickory Corners road to the New Wilmington-Clarksville road abandoning part of the last named road, the new cut of a mile will save building a very expensive bridge; vacating part of a road in Pymatuning township; petition asking view of a road in South Pymatuning township; view of a road located in South Pymatuning and Hickory townships.

These items all indicate improvement, they are the mile posts of progress in road building in this county in the rural districts. The county residents who are really willing to sacrifice today to get an improved road are the farmers state the County Commissioners. A new bridge over run in Green township is also petitioned.

Denying that the allegations made concerning them are correct the supervisors of West Salem township have entered defense to the petition filed asking their discharge because of the alleged condition of the roads in that township.

In their answer filed today it is set forth that the roads complained of having been improved.

The board of supervisors are Harman Melvin, W. F. Mathay and Ralph Mowery supervisors in a township where the roads are of dirt such as have existed this spring and summer.

W. J. Whieldon of Mercer has been elected secretary of the board of trustees of Allegheny College.

The election of Mr. Whieldon took place at the commencement meeting of the school officials which occurred Tuesday of this week. Mr. Whieldon has served as a member of the board for a long term of years.

The fines and costs collected during 1926 by Parole Officer Rev. W. T. K. Thompson and amounting to $28,000 will be eclipsed in amount by those collected this year in the opinion of that official if payments continue to be made as promptly as at present and of course presuming that as many bootleggers remain on his roll for payment.

A payment of $2800 into the county treasury of recent date is the sum of a short collection period.

Rev. Thompson has on his roll at present 165 prisoners.

All bootleggers are paroled at the half time period of their sentence providing they come through with all their costs and fines.

The plan that of the Judge J. A. McLaughry has been found so affacacious that the money collected in 1926 paid all of the court, jail and workhouse expense.

Of the above amount collected by Rev. Thompson in 1926 the fines amounted to $22,000.

It is announced today that Ben Nardi of Race street Greenville arrested in January of this year charged with possession of liquor will be given a re-trial at the coming June term.

In the Nardi home was found over 600 gallon of wine which the defendant alleged through his attorneys was made for home consumption and became alcoholic on his premises without his adding any foreign substance.

Convicted he was granted a new trial on the strength of this pleading which develops an angle of the liquor enactment laws never before tested out in the county courts.

Asking that more time be given them to make a view of the boundary line between Jackson Centre and Jackson township the viewers T. A. Sampson and Harry Hunter of Mercer and L. E. Burnside of Sharon have filed petition in the county court here.

They will file their report at the October sessions it is said.

Reception For New Members At St. John's Church

In honor of the new members who have been received in the church during the past year, the congregation of St. John's Lutheran church will have a reception Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

A fine program of music and talks has been arranged. Charles Neudorfer will represent the church council and Charles Hayford will respond for the new members. The pastor, Rev. F. E. Stough will also give a talk.

Following the program there will be a social hour at which time refreshments will be served.

Add More Tennis Courts At College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 23.—Westminster's planned battery of 12 tennis courts to be ranged consecutively on the site of the present two courts received another boost when it was annouced that two more courts would be put in this summer. The tile and the other necessities for the building of the two new courts have already been provided for and the work will start immediately on this second pair of the planned battery of 12.

Graduate manager of athletics, A. A. McDonald has the supervision of the construction of this work which is to be done by the college staff of laborers. The clay for the courts will be taken from that which is being dug out of the foundations of the new college buildings.

Tennis courts have been much needed by the college as the pair that are now in use are not nearly enough to meet the demand. During the spring of this year there were always at least a dozen students waiting their turn to play on the courts on every good day. The new courts will certainly be an asset to the college.

Night Air Mail Service Likely

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—Postal authorities are considering the establishment of a night air mail service from Pittsburgh to Youngstown and Cleveland, Postmaster George W. Gosser, of Pittsburgh, and Clifford Ball, contractor for the route, said today.

Gosser revealed that preliminary flights have been undertaken in an effort to ascertain the practicability of the night service. The Chamber of Commerce here has taken steps to provide emergency landing fields and beacon lights throughout the journey, Gosser stated.

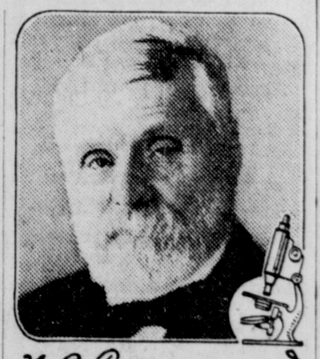
Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy



W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Make Swimming Safe For Boys At Camp

Every precaution is being taken in John M. Phillips Scout Camp this year to assure safe swimming.

With the erection of a new swimming pier and installation of life saving devices, swimming has been made safe for the boys.

Stringent rules are being enforced to prevent any swimming accidents through disobedience of scouts to camping rules. There is a record at this camp which is clean of any scout disobeying swimming rules.

Plans for swimming meets, and tests are completed. The first swimming instructions to non-swimmers will be given in the afternoon swimming period today. Every scout in camp is guaranteed to be a swimmer before he leaves the camp. Special attention is being given to life saving tests, and first class scout swimming tests.

Jack Jones, Allan Garvin and Junior Brown completed their first class test today. They are the first scouts in camp to pass swimming tests.

Wins Second Inspection

For the second successive time stockade, Kit Karson, under the leadership of Kenneth Atkinson, won the highest number of points in inspection. This is an unusual feat in the camp and if the Kit Carsons win it today, each member of the stockade will be given 25 additional honor points.

Edward Jenkins led in the honor point scoring Wednesday, secured 130 honor points. This is the greatest number of honor points for a day this season. Jack Porte and Jack Marshall came close second with 125 points.

Camp Athletics

Stockade Dan Boone, defeated stockade, Dave Thompson, in base ball. Playground ball honors in a contest between the Kit Carson, and the Davey Crocketts went to the Kit Carson. The Davy crockets proved better net men than the Dave Thompsons, when they defeated that stockade in volley ball Wednesday evening.

In Indian Village

"I wanta be an Indian, and live in the new Indian Village," is the ery of every eligible scout in camp. To live in this village a scout must have passed his first class test, and performed a really note worthy service for the camp. Every first class scout in camp building bridges, or planning them, for the many ravines and streams which flow thru the camp property. They are also constructing rustice furniture. All these articles should be permanent, and the scouts must build them without the use of nails.

Camp K. P.'s Enjoy It.

Robert McWilliams, Allen Garvin, Wayne Greer and Joe Malando are custodians of the camp cfina for the summer. They are the most popular scouts in camp. They bring on the hash, for they are the kitchen police. Dishes as being used instead of mess kits this year.

According to these fellows, "A few minutes a day brings on the dishes and takes them away; then a fellow gets a summer in camp."

Moving Pictures Shown

Pictures of the Lindbergh flight, and reception in Washington and Paris were shown Wednesday evening. The scouts saw themselves in the movies when pictures of the New Castle rnd Sharon Camporees were shown. Pictures of the Arkansas Executive council, at Hot Springs, and pictures of the crippled childrens period at camp were shown.

Swimming Rules for 1927

1.—No swimming except at stated periods, at alloted sections and under supervision.

2.—All non swimmers must stay in shallow water.

3.—No swimming at other camp floats or docks.

4.—No swimming on hikes in any strange waters, as these are usually unfamiliar even to the leaders.

5.—No underwater swimming as it causes trouble as well as danger.

6.—No water wings permitted.

7.—No boy shall call for help not in actual need of it.

HIS IMPRESSION

Victim—It looked like a hole about six inches in diameter.

SCOTT BELIEVES HE HAS ESCAPED NOOSE FOR GOOD

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 23. — Russell Scott, who has been dodging the hangman's noose for three years following his conviction for the murder of Joseph Maurer during a drug store holdup, was confident today that he will eventually and finally throw off the menace of the gallows.

Scott, who has been saved a half dozen times through a series of reprieves, stays and committments to asylum, increased his lead in the race with the hangman yesterday when the supreme court of Illinois granted him a new trial to test his sanity.

The new trial involves no question as to his guilt. It is merely to determine whether or not he is competent mentally to hang. If Scott is found sane in the new trial he will again be sentenced to hang, otherwise he will be returned to Chester Asylum for the Criminal Insane.

CLOVER HAY IS NOW BEING CUT

Mowing Machines Are In Action In Lawrence County Fields

First of the hay crop of the season is now being cut in Lawrence county, the clover hay being the first to fall before the mower.

School of Agriculture of Pennsylvania State College advise the cutting of hay for dairy cows early as it has better milk producing qualities if cut before it becomes too ripe.

There is a large crop of hay in all parts of the county this year on account of the plentiful rains of the spring months. With favorable weather for the next six weeks or two months it is likely that a bumper crop of hay will be put away.

Other crops are also looking very favorable. Wheat is mostly out in head it looks like a find stand on the ground. The oats fields are also coming along in a fair way. The corn seems to have been a little slow but the warm weather of the last few days seems to make it look up wonderfully and it is likely that much of the corn will reach the traditional standard of "knee high on the Fourth of July."

Another Triumph

Pittsburgh has contributed much to the wealth of the nation. Now it contributes health and happiness to the world.

Pittsburgh has discovered the real secret of rice—and by an entirely new process, originated and perfected by the House of Heinz and its Industrial Fellowship in Mellon Institute has produced, after 5 years of study and experiment, a food so good that the whole world must applaud the achievement.

Heinz Rice Flakes—so good you fairly revel in their dainty crispness and delicious popcorn flavor—and then you notice that you are feeling better, working better, looking better.

This is because the remarkable process, owned and used exclusively by Heinz, so utilizes the natural roughage of the rice that it imparts a moisture-absorbing property which is one of Nature's best eliminative aids.

Heinz Rice Flakes are always crisp in cream or milk. Eat them because they are so good—so different. See how joyously the children take to them.

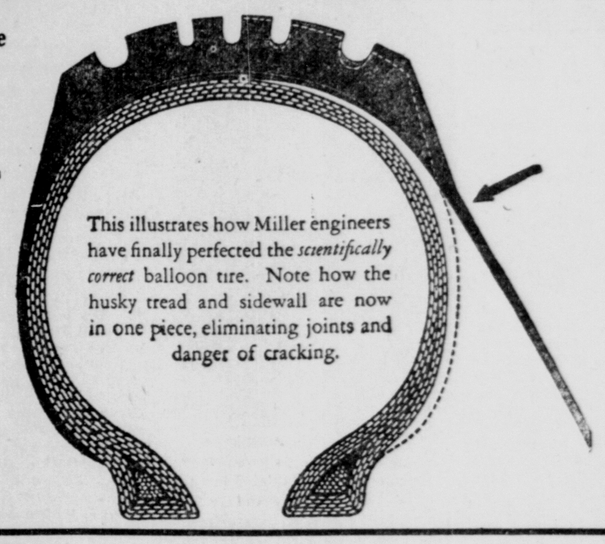
One Piece Tread and Sidewall
No Separation possible



No Joint
No Hinging

This illustrates how Miller engineers have finally perfected the scientifically correct balloon tire. Note how the husky tread and sidewall are now in one piece, eliminating joints and danger of cracking.

1. One Piece Tread and sidewall eliminates cracks and hinges. Sidewall separation is impossible.

2. Road Shaped Tread eliminates spotty uneven wear by distributing wear over greatest traction surface.

3. "Uniflex" Construction allows tire to flex as a whole and so eliminates excessive inner heat, caused by stiff carcass.

This fine tire—the result of years of scientific study and millions of test miles—is daily gaining in favor. It is the tire, car owners have been waiting for—the one that can be depended on ALWAYS an ABSOLUTELY. The builders of this master tire have inbuilt strength for every tire enemy. That is the reason people do not have trouble with Millers. Slow even tread wear—carcass constructed so shocks will be distributed over entire tire—separation of sidewall and tread gone forever. These are the big reasons you hear so much about Miller fineness.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

ON FAMILIAR GROUND AGAIN.

Now "Speak when you're spoken to, and do as you bid," is a very good rule to follow when you go adventuring in Animal Land, at least Peter found it worked pretty well, and so without another word he took Mole's advice and set off up the tunnel. So steep and slanting was the passage that for part of the way the boy had to crawl on his hands and knees, but for all of that Peter did not mind it half as much as he had the journey down, it was so much shorter. In no time at all he found himself at the surface.

"All right, Mole!" cried he. "Daylight ahead! In another moment I'll be out in the open. Had a great time! Good luck and good-by!"

Faint came the answer and the boy knew that his little furry friend had heard and was going his way. Now all there was left to do was for Peter to make his way through the opening and he would be on familiar ground again. Small as he was, he was too large to get out; try as he would, he could not squeeze through. For just a moment he was dreadfully frightened.

"Oh I am buried alive!" gasped he. "If only I hadn't cried safe to Mole so soon," and then he thought of something and laughed.

"Pooh, I'm not, either. I know what has happened. Mole said that the tunnels near the surface were apt to cave in, and dirt has fallen down and blocked the mouth of this one. I shall have to dig myself out, that is all, just as Mole would if he were here. I'll bet I can scratch up almost as much and as quickly as could he. Here goes, anyhow!"

The boy set to work with a will and found it was not as easy as it seemed.

"Oh, for the digging claws and the pointed nose of Mole to help me now," said he. "If anyone thinks that chap has an easy time of it he is mistaken. Why, he works all the time at tasks a strong man could not keep up for very long. To be sure, I am only a little boy, but how my hands hurt already from tearing at this old earth. Thank goodness I can stop soon. There! Now I can get my head through. When there is room for my shoulders my digging will be over. Hurrah! At last this doorway is wide enough. Now to pop out before there is another cave-in. One to make ready! Two to go! Three and I'm out!"

HE WAS OUT IN THE COLD, TO BE SURE, BUT HOW GOOD THE FRESH AIR FELT

And he was out—in the cold, to be sure, but how good the fresh air felt. Peter took two or three deep breaths and then he gave a startled cry.

"Why the day is almost over, the sun is setting. What a long time I must have been rambling around in Moletown. Night will be along before a great while, and, gee Whillikens I had almost forgotten my date tonight. I promised to meet Cutie Fox by the barnyard gate and I must get there first and warn Towser. Sort of hate to do it, the fellow was so good to me, but I can't let him steal our chickens. The more I think of it, the meaner it seems, not only on Fox's account, but Towser is going to feel so badly when he finds out the friend he trusted is a thief."

Next: "A Ball of Bristles."

Find By Boy Causes Gold Rush In Britain

Money Saved By Woman Goes To Neighbors, Who Dig It Out Of Canal

CHESTER, England, June 23.—Discovery of 200 gold coins in the bed of a local canal has caused England's first native gold rush.

The find was made by a boy who while prodding about in the mud bed of the canal found several gold sovereigns. He took the gold home to his mother who lives near the canal and she announced the news to her neighbors who proceeded to the canal and carried out a search.

Some of the searchers obtained as much as 20 pounds.

The gold find is believed to be explained by the fact that after the death of a woman who lived nearby an old mattress in which had been hidden hoarded gold was thrown into the canal.

Wallace Guilty On First Count Jury's Verdict

Pulaski Young Man Denies Charges Of Miss McClintic On Witness Stand

Robert Wallace of Pulaski was found guilty of felonious rape, the first count of the indictment and not guilty of felonious assault and battery with intent to commit rape, by a jury at court Wednesday afternoon. The charge grew out of an attack on Glendora McClintic aged 14 in an atuomobile on the Pulaski road. Miss McClintic in her testimony had claimed that Wallace had taken her out in the machine against her will.

Wallace on the witness stand in his own defense denied that he had mistreated Miss McClintic. He admitted that he had driven into a field near a cemetery but stated that he had just sat there and talked to Miss McClintic for about three quarters of an hour. He was unable to give any clear account of the topic of conversation.

The case was given to the jury about the middle of the afternoon and a verdict was returned shortly before 6 o'clock.

MENU HINT.

Let's simplify our meals for the summer months. Following is a meal that has all the necessary food elements and yet would be no tax on the resources of the housewife, or on anyone's digestive organs. Any casserole dish could be substituted for the escalloped tomatoes.

Escalloped Tomatoes en Casserole
Green Pepper and Egg Salad
Orange Muffins
Strawberries and Fresh Pineapple
Home Made Cookies
Milk

TODAY'S RECIPES

Green Pepper and Egg Salad—Select one pepper for each person to be served, and boil hard as many eggs and remove seeds from peppers and cut out the top enough to insert egg. Prepare colored gelatine and when cool pour around egg inside of the pepper, being very careful not to break the pepper. When gelatine is firm slice crosswise with a sharp knife and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Results will be a very attractive salad with the green of the pepper, red gelatin, egg white and yellow center.

Orange Muffins—Three tablespoons butter, one-half cup light brown sugar, two eggs, rind and Juice of one orange, one cup milk, two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder. Sift flour and baking powder, add sugar. Beat eggs, add to melted butter and milk, add to flour and sugar, add the orange rind and juice. Beat well and bake in muffin pans for about twenty minutes in hot oven.

SUGGESTIONS
shiny Linens.

When a high polish is desired on linens, use lukewarm water instead of cold when mixing the starch. Mix to the desired thickness with boiling water, add one-half teaspoon salt and stir with a white wax candle. Proceed with starching as usual. This will give cheaper linens a much finer appearance.

Rag Rugs

Rag rugs may be washed in the tub with suds and warm water, using a scrubbing brush on the soiled portions. But the rinsing is just as important, for the rug will always look grimy unless thoroughly rinsed.

NEW CASTLE TO PLAY CANTON HERE TONIGHT

Booster Day Game Will Draw Throng

Manager "Molly" Meis Will Take Mound For Locals In League Game Tonight

RAIN LAYS DUST AT BALL ORCHARD

By "Bugs" Walther

Be a Booster, get behind the New Castle ball club, and let the directors and players know that New Castle fans appreciate league baseball.

Tonight at Centennial Field the Canton team will hook-up with the locals in an O. & P. League tilt. The game is known as a Booster Day attraction, and is scheduled to start at 6:30 o'clock.

The New Castle team shapes up at the present time, as one of the strongest in the league. It is true that the locals have been beaten on several occasions, but only by a margin of a few runs. With a revamped lineup the locals are ready to put New Castle among the leaders in the league standing, and they cannot do it, without the help of the fans.

Attendance records so far this year, has not broken any records. New Castle has played to only 200 and 300 fans in some of their games at the local field this year. This condition cannot go on forever. If the towns-people will not support the team, the team will eventually cease to exist. Will New Castle drop out of the league at the end of the first half? It's up to the fans.

Mayor Dunlap is Booster

Mayor William H. Dunlap is a Booster for the New Castle team. The city executive has done everything within his power this year, to help the local ball club to attain their ambition. The Chamber of Commerce has been interested in this movement for the past several days, and have given the boys plenty of encouragement. But encouragement will not pay the salaries of the players.

With fair weather prevailing today, the local ball park should be jammed to the guards tonight. The new bleachers built adjacent to the grandstand will seat about 500 fans, and the grandstand will accommodate in the neighborhood of 2,000. There is not any good reason why every seat should not be filled tonight.

The severe rainstorm of last night, laid the dust at Centennial park, and early today the field was in perfect shape.

Manager "Molly" Meis said today that he will take the knoll tonight against Canton. Just who will pitch for Canton is no known. Canton defeated New Castle 8 to 6, in their first game of the year here. Meis was credited with the defeat, and is anxious to get a little revenge tonight.

Well fans tonight tells the tale. If you are a Booster for league baseball, get behind the New Castle club tonight and attend the game. The prices are right and you can rest assured that you are going to witness a first class exhibition of the art of "socking the stitched-apple." Maybe McCoy will loosen up and hit another home run, one can never tell about these things.

Don't forget the time, it's 6:30 o'clock and remember it's a Booster Day game.

Athletes in Japan wear shoes which separate the large toe from the others to increase the runner's grip on the ground.

P. R. R. Topples Independents 8-4

Independents Have Nine Errors As Pennsy Boys Retain League Leadership

The P. R. R. team retained their leadership in the Lawrence County League, on Wednesday night at the E. & A. grounds, by toppling the Independents 8 to 4.

The Indies kicked in with nine errors as a part of the program, and these misplays together with seven hits gave the Pennsy team eight tallies. Valley was on the knoll for the league leaders and gave but five hits. Turco and Panella divided pitching duties for the Indies.

The Pennsy team scored two runs in the second and sewed the game up in the third with a four run rally. The Indies came to life in the final half of the seventh and tallied four times.

The box score:

Jack Satisfied With Condition

Believes He Can Defeat Not Only Sharkey, But Tunney Also

BURNED BROWN BY OUTDOOR TRAINING

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, June 23.—Jack Dempsey said today:

"If I were a betting man I would bet all the dough I now possess on myself to beat Sharkey and Tunney. Otherwise I wouldn't be here."

It might be playfully stated right here that William Harrison Dempsey is rated to hold about $2,000,000 more or less and all he has to do to add to that amount by another quarter of a million is to step out and prove the first part of the confident statement quoted above on July 21st. The cause- of-all-evil, or as the boys in the back room call it, "dough" is payable ten days in advance of that date. If he succeeds in stopping the onward march of the Boston gob, he just naturally kisses himself into another half million pay off with the erudite Mr. Tunney.

When asked by the writer how far he would care to unbutton the roll in a friendly wager on himself he replied, "If I were a betting man I would go the limit, because I am satisfied that I am ready for anybody. I weigh about 204 pounds and there isn't a man in the world can say that I am not ready to go as I am."

Dempsey looked good, without looking too good. He produced his visual evidence the sunburn which his press agent gave us all to understand he had accumulated while chopping wood etc., at the training camp in the California mountains. However street cleaners have been known to break out in a heavy coat of sunburn.

Trainers also Confident

Mr. Jerry Lavadis, otherwise "Jerry the Greek," attached to Mr. Dempsey's payroll for quite some years, and Gus Wilson, Dempsey's trainer, are exuding confidence. Jerry and Gus are all steamed up and could not be accused of retirence in explaining how Dempsey will blast the garroulous one's ambition to see for himself in person just how uneasy lies the head that wears the crown by eliminating Sharkey and his aspirations for particular adornment now reposing firmly on Gene Tunney's head.

It might be said in passing that the guarantee which will equalize $250,000 is the largest ever given to any fighter other than a champion.

A good idea for Wilson, Ludavis et al as well as the rest of us would be to wait until Dempsey steam rollers over Sharkey before we connect his name with Tunney too seriously.

Bessemer To Play Wampum Tonight

Bessemer and Wampum will play a postponed Lawrence County League game, tonight at the Bessemer grounds. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock.

The Bessemer team can take the league leadership tonight with a victory over the Wampumites. Today the P. R. R. and Bessemer teams were deadlocked for the supremacy of the loop.

A Big Row Brewing — By Feg Murray

Here are two gentlemen who should be much in the limelight tomorrow at New London, Conn., when the annual four-mile varsity race between the crews representing those age-old rivals, Yale and Harvard, get under way. This will be the fifty-ninth boat-race between the two institutions, and both universities are especially anxious to win it, Yale to set a new record of finishing first in seven consecutive classics, and Harvard to break the Bulldog's monopoly of rowing honors which has lasted since 1921.

Captains Geoffrey Platt of Harvard and Fred Robinson of Yale are, no doubt, much better oarsmen than the rival captains were back in 1852, when the first race was held on Lake Winnepesaukee. The crews rowed only two miles then, and the time of the winning Harvard crew, if it was taken, has not been handed down to posterity. In the old days it was quite the thing to drink sherry and egg just before the race, and the rival crews used to row a fierce practice race the morning of the regatta! Captains Platt and Robinson would know better than that, naturally, and would laugh at the side-whiskers, mustaches, and snappy striped caps worn by the "noble Row-men" of 1852 and later.

Here is a little dope on the rival captains in tomorrow's regatta.

Geoffrey Platt, the Harvard leader, lives in New York, is twenty-two years old, six feet tall, and weighs 185 pounds. Fred Robinson, of Yale, is the same age as Platt, but stands three inches taller and weighs ten pounds less. He also comes from New York, but "prepped" at Hotchkiss, while his rival went to St. Marks. Fred rows number three, while Geoffrey has rowed the same position, and also number six. Robinson is the regular forward on the Yale hockey team.

It should be a great race, with Harvard having the best chance to win since Leader took over the reigns at Yale. Yale won six races in a row before, back in 1900-1905, and then Harvard broke their winning streak. Harvard won from 1908 to 1913, inclusive, and then Yale stopped them. Will history repeat itself, or will Yale win the charmed seventh consecutive victory?

Feg Murray Says—

No, Esmeralda, that number 110 on the perspiring athlete's chest is not his temperature.

Plan For Blue Ribbon Meet At Lincoln, Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb., June 23.—The greatest field of athletes ever assembled in the history of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States will gather in Lincoln July 1, 2 and 4 for the A. A. U. championships. The national is the "blue ribbon track meet" of the year being classed as the American Olympics.

A banner year in the national collegiate circles and the fact that the 1927 meet will be a preliminary test of the 1928 Olympic team will combine to make the July classic at Lincoln a great meet.

An idea of the calibre of competition on display at Lincoln next month may be gained from the fact that leading athletes in almost every field of sport are entered including world known champions.

"Roxy" Marshall Is Given Suspension For Recent Attack

Twilight League Player Suspended For Balance Of Season For Attacking Umpire

"Roxy" Marshall, centerfielder of the National Radiator Colored Stars baseball team, members of the Lawrence County Twilight League, has been suspended for the balance of the season and fined $5.00 for his recent attack on Umpire Raymond Nolte.

Following a report made by Umpire Nolte the Commissioners: Glitch, Walther and Chambers investigated the attack, and reached their decision today.

The attack occurred following the game played Tuesday night at the Radiator Field, between the Colored Stars and West Pittsburg. The trouble developed in the late inning of the game, when Marshall it is alleged deliberately stepped in front of a pitched ball and started for first base. Umpire Nolte called him back and explained to him that it was against the rules to deliberately get hit with a pitched ball.

After the game Marshall it is alleged, suddenly, without warning struck Nolte and knocked him to the ground. Nolte was unconscious for some time after the attack and was revived in a doctor's office.

The Commisioners also affixed a fine of $5.00 on Joe Butera of West Pittsburg, and also a fine of $5.00 on Manager Quinn of the West Pittsburg team. Butera it is alleged also attacked an umpire in a recent game. Manager Quinn drew his fine for failure to protect the officials of the game.

PROBABLY you never lubricate your own car. You have it done—or your wife does. But it actually takes an expert to know just when and how the modern car should be lubricated.

Here's the reason—

There are from 50 to 80 friction spots on your car. In every one of them friction is a constant menace.

Here's the remedy—

Operating costs can be cut and repairs avoided, by keeping each friction-spot protected with the right lubricant.

There is a correct Veedol lubricant for every friction-spot on your car—a lubricant that gives the "film of protection", thin as tissue, smooth as silk, tough as steel.

Here's the way to get it—

Drive today to a dealer who displays the orange and black Veedol sign. Simply say "Complete Veedol Lubrication" and he'll do the rest.

Yankees Sitting On Top Of Heap

Have Eight Straight Victories To Credit; Ruth Going Well

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 23.—With eight straight victories to their credit and a nine-game lead over the field, and Babe Ruth exactly even with his 1921 home run record, the New York Yankees are sitting on top of the baseball world today. The Bambino hit his 23rd and 24th homers of the season yesterday in the first of two games with the Red Sox, it being the third time he has smacked a pair of home runs in one game this season.

The yank won 7 to 4 and 3 to 2, with Wilcy Moore, their official pallbearer, saving both games. Losing the nightcap was tough taffy for Charlie Ruffing, the Red Sox twirler, as he was tagged for only three hits. Buddy Myer, Sox shortstop, presented all three runs to the champs by muffing a fly and heaving two balls at a peanut vendor in the stands.

Al Simmons of the Athletics clouted two homers in one game for the second time this season as the A's trimmed the Senators, 13 to 7. In the opener Horace Lisenbee, Washington's nineteen year old phenom, faced the Mackmen for the first time and with the aid of four hits by Bucky Harris, beat them 4 to 2 for his ninth victory. Jimmy Dykes of the A's collected five hits and is now outbatting every regular in the league except Gehrig.

Stewart, the Brown's brilliant rookie southpaw, won a 3 to 2 pitching duel from Sergeant George Connally of the White Sox in ten innings. The second game was an Alphonse and Gaston affair, with Alphonse Thomas, Chicago, winning and 8 to 5 verdict over Milt Gaston, St. Louis. Thomas has won eleven games.

Staging two five-run rallies, the Pirates took an 11 to 9 slugfest from the Reds, eight pitchers labored in the vineyard and all plucked nothing but sour grapes.

The Cardinals stayed with the pace by drubbing the slipping Cubs, 11 to 5. Alexander the great pitched out of turn at his own request and did very well save for a momentary laps when Hack Wilson, premier National League home run hitter, walloped his 14th homer with two on. Frisch got three hits and passed Rogers Hornsby in the batting race.

Other clubs were idle.

Bessemer Tops Wampum 9 To 4

Bessemer came back to life last night at Wampum, and snatched a County League victory, by a score of 9 to 4. The drubbing handed the Bessemer boys by the P. R. R. seemed to instill a new fight in the team.

Hoover occupied the mound for the Bessemerites last night, and pitched a fine game, holding the heavy hitting Wampum players to but four hits and fanned three men. Grinnen opposed Hoover and was found for six hits.

The Wampum team turned in seven errors, that aided the Bessemer boys in their scoring activities. Dombeck and Diffley featured with three-base drives.

Reds Bow To Pirates, 11 To 9

Pirates Overcome Five-Run Lead To Romp Away With Game

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 23.—The Pirates defeated Cincinnati 11 to 9 at Forbes field yesterday afternoon in a game that had a twilight flavor interspersed with championship baseball.

The opposing managers employed eight pitchers and the Reds used everything but pistols to score but the fighting spirit of the Pirates was manifested when they overcame a five inning lead.

Donohue, Lucas, Mays and Nehf occupied the hill for the Cincinnati team while Kremer, Morrison, Hill and Aldridge went on the mound for the Pirates.

Cincinnati got two in the first and three in the second. The Pirates came through in their half with five runs tying the score and had 11 runs at the end of the sixth while the Reds had 6.

In the last of the ninth the Cincinnati team made an attempt to even the tally sheet but after scoring three runs the Pirates retired the side and romped away with the game.

Looking Back

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Ten years ago this summer Hans Wagner stepped out of the major leagues after serving 21 years, leaving behind him a record to be placed alongside those of Pop Anson, Nap. Lajoie and Ty Cobb. Played in four world's series and on the victorious team in two.

Managed the Pirates for a brief period his final season—after the resignation of Jimmy Callahan.

Not only ranked as one of the greatest batters of all time and one of the game's greatest shortstops, but won universal popularity by his personality, including his funny, short, bowed legs.

Served his entire career on the payroll of Barney Dreyfuss, first with the Louisville club and then with the Pirates.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Frankie Frisch ought to be getting quite a kick out of the recent report and denial that Rogers Hornsby will succeed John McGraw as manager of the Giants next season. Especially the "Yes you did," "No I didn't" aspects of the case.

Frankie was named in this same way two different times, while a member of the New York club. And it didn't take either time.

The most interesting part of the recent report anent Hornsby's promotion is that it came upon the eve of Hornsby's first appearance in St. Louis as a member of a visiting team. Of course, there was no thought behind the promulgated report that such a bit of news might swell the gate receipts that day. It was done as innocently as a flapper lipsticks for the boy friend.

And, of course, John had nothing to do with the report—and would have stifled it in the bud had he heard of it before it became generally known. Jawn, of course, knows nothing of the publicity provoked by such a story—and the denial of it later.

But the left-handed kick in it for Frisch is in the knowledge that it will bring Hornsby more grief than he has now. The ex-Cardinal is already known as "teacher's pet" and the recent report, however groundless, only increases the feeling.

Also it is common report at this time that Hornsby's position on the Giant team isn't a pleasant one. McGraw depends upon him to run the team almost unaided at times and some of the boys don't seem to get going at top speed at such times.

Something tells me that Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, is still satisfied with the winter deal.

While in this vein it might be well to add a word in retrospect on Earl Smith's latest flight into rowdyism.

The attack on Manager Bancroft of the Boston Braves by the Pirate catcher was not only unwarranted but cowardly. In these days of proper control over the conduct on the field it is unnecessary for players to resort to physical violence to receive fair treatment from other players. But aside from this aspect of the case, there stands out more prominently the "bully" tactics pursued by Smith.

He outweighs Bancroft by some 25 pounds—is entirely out of Bancroft's class in weight and general physique. Bancroft stands 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. Smith is over 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds.

No one could have accused Smith of seeking cover behind the umpire's back had he reported any of the alleged words of Bancroft to the official behind the plate and demanded action. On the other hand, his surprise attack on the smaller player was cowardly.

Bancroft is not a fighter by nature or desire. He is normally a gentleman on and off the field.

Smith's rapid fire tongue and his pugnacious disposition are well known around the major leagues. Together they cost him his berth with the Giants at a time when he wasn't rated a good catcher.

Chicago Stacks Are Blown Out

Chicago District Reports Slackening Of Steel And Iron Industry

CLEVELAND, O., June 23.—Iron Trade Review says: Secondary buying of track material, accelerated inquiry for third quarter pig iron and brisker contracting in coke brighten an iron and steel market that is otherwise lapsing rapidly into summer quietude. The industry is drifting into the third quarter with interest of consumers lagging beyond expectations.

Production has been further curtailed, Steel corporation subsidiaries reducing their steelmaking rate to 78 per cent while independent operations have shrunk to about 70. Two steelworks stacks have been blown out at Chicago, making four dropped in three weeks. At no time in the first half year have producers retrenched so sharply as in the past fortnight.

Chicago mills are entertaining inquiry for 120,000 tons of rails, including 50,000 tons for the Pennsylvania and the accompanying 35,000 tons of track fastenings.

Two more Buffalo blast furnace interests have closed on their coke requirements for the last half and another for the third quarter, each order calling for approximately 15,000 tons monthly. It is understood that $3.25 was the minimum quoted. The spot market for beehive furnace coke is up 10 cents to $3 and supplies are scarce.

Specifications to strip mills against second quarter contracts carrying prices in effect prior to the recent advance have been heavy. A fair portion of this business has come from the automotive industry. On the other hand shrinking specifications for sheets from the automotive industry have prompted lighter mill schedules in the Mahoning valley.

Thirty-six thousand tons of pipe will be required for a gas line from Louisiana to Texas, with additional tonnage in prospect for extensions.

Demand for iron and steel scrap along Atlantic seaboard for export to Europe has reached fair proportions in the past week and aroused dealers hopes that the tide of receding prices may be turned.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 23. — Forward movements in a few of the high-priced specialty and equipment stocks, fresh declines in the oils and other specialties, and desultory trading in such active groups as the rails and steels, were the principal features of an otherwise dull and heavy market in the first hour today.

Selling of the oil stocks accompanied reports of a wide disagreement among the oil leaders as to remedies for the current overproduction, which is becoming more serious each day. Phillips, Marland and Shell Union bore the brunt of this selling, reaching new low prices on the move. Uncertainty with respect to Henry Ford's next move caused some unsettlement in the motor stocks, and the leaders slumped off a point or two.

A 5-point decline in Paramount Famous Lasky to 96 follows announcement of a 10 per cent cut in wages for all employes over a certain scale.

Complete Work Of Removing Cells

Removal and demolishing of the former cellar cells of the police station for the purpose of making way for the new heating system being installed in the city building, has had one effect at least in the building.

With the removal of some of the heavy supporting walls between the cells there has been a slight noticeable sinking of the walls of the police department, particularly that part where the seregant holds forth. At the door between the sergeant's department and the police court room, the sinking or settling of the building at that point is so pronounced that it has been necessary to plane off a portion of the door between the two places in order that the door may be opened and shut with ease.

Peace at Last

A romance which stirred New York society ten months ago has culminated in San Francisco by Mrs. Isabelle Keyes Burch 27, becoming the bride of her father-in-law, Capt. Arnaldo Marson, 39, Italian war ace. As soon as the couple learned divorce decrees freeing them from their respective mates in New York were final, they were married. Last September the pair forsook their legal mates, and accepted the ostracism of society.

Balloonists say this is a record for a hot air balloon of this type to travel.

Frederick's Son Gives Testimony

Warren, O., Murder Trial Is Progressing At Cleveland Federal Court

CLEVELAND, June 23.—Robert Frederick, 16-year-old son of Ernest Frederick, being tried in federal court here for shooting to death Walter Holcomb, testified Wednesday that his father lived in fear Mrs. Frederick was going to poison him.

He made Mrs. Frederick exchange coffee cups with him the day before the shooting, his son said, who told how his father made her confess to the boy she had been intimate with Holcomb. He said his father told him to demand an autopsy if he should die suddenly.

Don McCurdy, a newspaperman of Warren, told how Frederick, in the patrol wagon, had said he couldn't discuss the shooting, adding: 'I've just shot off the third end of an eternal triangle and sent a soul to hell that was long past due."

The testimony of Dr. S. S. MacKenzie, his physician, admitted under cross-examination that his contention Frederick was insane was based on the general belief that any person who kills another is crazed at the time.

Dr. C. W. Thomas, Warren steel company surgeon, also cross-examined, said Frederick had hallucinations when intoxicated, but was extremely brilliant when sober. Both doctors said that if Frederick was a paranoiac when he shot Holcomb he still is.

The government has alienists ready to swear that he is not insane, according to Bernstein.

Laymen To Meet At Grove City

New Castle District Gathering On Friday; News Of Grove City

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., June 23.—The New Castle District Laymen's Association will meet in the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church here on Friday evening, June 24th. Delegates from all over this part of Western Pennsylvania will be present, and supper will be served on Friday evening, in the church at 6:30 p. m. An interesting program has been arranged for after the supper and all members of the congregation are invited to attend.

The local church will elect its delegates to the annual conference at a special meeting to be held after the regular weekly prayer meeting on Thursday evening. One delegate and one alternate will be selected.

Dr. C. H. Williamson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be one of the instructors at the Young People's Conference at Hood College, Frederick, Maryland, for the next two weeks. Dr. Williamson will have a class each morning on "Stewardship" and will also conduct the daily chapel service. He left Grove City the first of the week, accompanied by his two daughters, and will return on July 2nd. Next Sunday during his absence, the services morning and evening will be in charge of Dr. W. E. Purvis, D. D., of the Grove City College faculty.

A number of members of the local circle of the P. H. C. left Monday for Detroit, Michigan, to attend the Supreme Circle, which is being held in that city this week. On the schedule of events which will continue throughout the week, was the annual banquet dinner held last evening at the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Following the banquet, a class of one thousand candidates were to be initiated into the Inner Circle.

The Grove City members who are attending the meeting are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Christy, Miss Rita Christy, Charles Christy, Miss Martha Wardle, Miss Bertha Wardle and Mrs. Glenn Holmes. The party are expected back in Grove City the latter part of the week.

A very beautiful home wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hodge, when their daughter, Miss Margaret, became the bride of Rev. Joseph Morledge, son of Mrs. Ann Morledge of Homestead, formerly of Grove City. The ceremony took place at the bride's home on State street, with Dr. Leroy Lawther, of Cleveland, officiating.

Dinner was served at the close of the ceremony, and the bride and groom left immediately for a two week's trip along the Great Lakes. Upon their return, they will make their home at Hickory, Pa., where Rev. Morledge has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church of that place.

The bride is a graduate of Grove City high school and the Music Department of Grove City College. She has been teaching for the last few years, first in Grove City and more lately at New Kensington. Rev. Morledge is also a graduate of Grove City high school and Grove City College, and was recently graduated from the Princeton Theological Seminary, at Princeton, N. J.

The first day of registration for the summer term of Grove City College proved very satisfactory to college authorities. Not as many students have been enrolled this year as in previous terms, but a number are expected to arrive today which will bring the list up to expectations. Class work began this morning at sevent-forty.

Dr. J. W. Sweeney, superintendent of public schools of Elk County, will again head the School of Pedagogy this summer, as he has for the last decade.

Byrd Continues To Delay Flight

Weather Conditions Prevent Start Of Trip Across Atlantic In Plane

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROOSEVELT FLYING FIELD, MINEOLA, N. Y., June 23.—With a tinge of impatience in his voice, Commander Richard E. Byrd said today that the giant silver and gold monoplane America will not hop off for Paris before four o'clock tomorrow morning, if then.

Dangerous storm conditions over the North Atlantic is holding up the take off, and the situation is beginning to get on the nerves of the even-tempered, gentle-mannered Byrd and his three associates, Bert Acosta, the pilot, Lieut. George Noville and Lieut. Zernt Balchen.

"It is barely possible that we will hop off at dawn Friday but I'd bet ten to one against it," said Byrd, regretfully.

"When the weather man says go, we'll go."

With an imploring smile, Byrd suggested that the newspapers desist in making it appear that the flight is imminent.

"Put the soft pedal on the probable time of the hop off," were Byrd's words. "The weather is beginning to make a boob of all such predictions."

James H. Kimball, United States Meteorologist, on whom Byrd is relying for weather data, has recommended to Byrd that he postpone the flight until conditions clear up, which may take twenty four hours, or longer.
